Storm Grips Midwest

Cold Wave Brings Heavy Snow; Hiway Travel Hampered; Missouri In Path

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A snow storm and cold wave, whistling in 10 days in advance of spring, nearly paralyzed highway travel in parts of the Midwest Saturday.

Stores closed and bus schedules were suspended in the hardest hit areas of the Northern Plains.

The full-blown storm buried South Dakota, southwestern Minnesota and northwestern Iowa under as much as one to two feet of snow and fanned eastward toward Wisconsin and southern Michigan.

A surge of arctic cold rolled southward from the snow belt.

Northerly winds reaching 35 to 45 miles an hour caused moderate to heavy snow drifting.

Stores closed at midmorning in Mitchell, S.D., where new snow piled up to a depth of 24 inches. Stores also shut down in Sioux Falls, S.D., which wallowed in 13 inches of new snow. Bus travel between the two cities was canceled. Planes by-passed Sioux Falls.

A South Dakota Indian woman, trying to walk eight miles through the blizzard to summon help for nine persons stranded in a car Friday night, died of exposure.

Mrs. Cornelius White, Mission, S. D., her husband, three other adults and six children were in route from Valentine, Neb., to Mission on the Rosebud Indian Reservation when their car struck a snowbank and stalled on a county road eight miles from Mission.

White and his wife left the car and started to walk to the community. Halfway there, Mrs. White collapsed. Her husband continued to Mission.

A rescue party from Mission picked up the car passengers and found the woman's body. None of the others was hurt.

Northerly winds picked up during the day bringing road travel almost to a standstill in South Dakota, southwestern Minnesota, which got up to 12 inches of new snow, and northwestern Iowa which had 12 to 13 inches. Northwest Nebraska had 5 inches.

Cold wave warnings went up for all or parts of Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Iowa.

The heavy snow and strong winds were expected to create blizzard conditions in northeast and north-central Nebraska and central and southeast South Dakota.

Girl Scouts Salute Sedalia During Week

In observing their 44th birthday, Girl Scouts will pay tribute to Sedalia in a series of "This Is Our Town" events scheduled for Girl Scout Week, March 11-17, Mrs. Gregory Connor, president of the Sedalia Council, announced today.

The anniversary celebrations which mean extra fun and activities for all the Girl Scouts in Sedalia are held every year to commemorate the founding of the Girl Scout movement on March 12, 1912, in Savannah, Ga.

From one troop in 1912, the Girl Scout movement has grown to more than two and a half million. Although still based on a pledge of duty "to God and my country", today's Girl Scouting offers young people activities in many fields including agriculture, arts, community service, homemaking, international friendship, dramatics, music, dancing, sports, games, nature study and, of course, hiking and camping, Mrs. Connor explained.

This year's Girl Scout Week activities will be built around the theme "This Is Our Town" and will include many activities saluting Sedalia and its achievements.

US Reviews Policy Toward Middle East

Reappraisal May Lead To Change In US-Egypt Relations

WASHINGTON, March 10—(AP)—The State Department, it was learned today, has started a reluctant reappraisal of United States policy toward the Mideast Arab states. The review may lead to a radical change in American relations with Egypt.

Top department officials were reported to feel that Egypt's increasingly bitter anti-Western attitude had compelled the new policy study. This, informants said, involves serious consideration of whether the United States should not give up efforts to build constantly closer friendship with Egypt and concentrate instead on coperation with Iraq.

In this connection, Secretary of State Dulles and his chief advisers are expected to take a new look upon his return to Washington later this month at possible American membership in the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact.

Britain has been urging the United States to join but this country has declined, largely because Egypt is opposed.

This far-reaching re-examination of Middle Eastern policy comes at a time when the fortunes of the Western powers are suffering badly throughout the Mediterranean area. The flaming dispute between Greece and Britain over Cyprus has brought a dangerous rift in the North Atlantic Alliance.

Mob attacks on the U. S. consulate at Tunis dramatized anew the instability of France's embattled rule in North Africa. The ouster of British Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb from Jordan was a powerful blow to Britain's restraining influence on Arab policy in Palestine.

Egypt has played a key role in some of these anti-Western developments and officials told this reporter today the situation has reached the point where United States' policy makers can no longer avoid reappraising and perhaps redirecting U. S. policy with respect to the Arab bloc, no matter how reluctant they may be or how risky the action involved.

Dial Equipment Included—

Construction on New Telephone Office Building to Start Soon

The new central office building in Sedalia for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. will begin to take form in another couple of months once the final plans are approved and the contracts awarded. When it is completed, it will be among the really handsome structures in the city.

It will be located at the southwest corner of Fifth and Massachusetts, with 135 feet frontage on Fifth by 120 feet on Massachusetts. A corner entrance will provide equal access for the public from either street.

The style of the building can be described as a conservative modern type. It will be faced with brick and variegated mosaic title on the Fifth Street side and with brick and limestone on the Massachusetts Avenue side.

The space which the public ordinarily will use is the commercial office on the first floor. Large windows will open onto Fifth Street giving a view of the interior, which will have two walls of brick and two walls of aluminum and glass, under a ceiling of 11-foot height. A screen of aluminum and fabric covered panels will divide the working portion of this space from the public space, and the floor will be made into decorative patterns with bright-colored vinyl tile.

The operators' room on the sec- is expected to be installed within two years.

Once the new building is completed and equipment transferred to it from the old building, the old building at Third and Lamine will ond floor of the building will be painted with light, pleasing colors, and acosutically treated.

The rear part of the building is to be occupied by the telephone equipment rooms, which have 15-foot ceilings to accommodate ducts, conduits and the racks of electronic devices. Included will be the equipment necessary for Sedalia's new dial telephone system, which be sold, according to Norman Pitcairn, manager of the local business office.

Architects for the new building are Neville, Sharp and Simon, Kansas City.

Community Concert Program—

Arizona Boys Chorus Appears Next Friday at Smith-Cotton

The Arizona Boys Chorus will appear Friday evening at Smith-Cotton Auditorium under the auspices of the Community Concert Association. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m.

In choir vestments or in blue jeans, the boys are beguiling in their program of classics, carols, folk songs, Mexican novelties and westerns sung with a superb blend of fine young voices. Their own highly original arrangements of songs of the Great Southwest, spiced with comedy and seasoned with calf bawls and coyote calls, give their program its distinctly American flavor and make it a round-up of music and fun for everyone.

The Tucson Arizona Boys Chorus was founded in the fall of 1939 by and Englishman, Eduardo Caso, and before long all Tucson recognized Caso's singing cowboys as one of the city's finest institutions and the group was incorporated as a non-profit, non-sectarian organization which is now administered by a board of directors comprising many of Tucson's most distinguished citizens.

As the prestige of the organization grew so did its membership. From a choir of 8, the Chorus has now increased to well over 100 boys, ranging in age from 8 to 16, divided into three sections. There are approximately 30 in the senior group, 50 in the intermediate, and 50 in the junior. The touring Chorus is chosen from the best voices of the senior and intermediate groups and—barring chickenpox, measles, overnight baritones and other occupational hazards of boy singers—consists of 28 to 30 members. They all hail from Tucson and are selected at auditions held three times a year.

The Chorus is non-affiliated with any school, church or other organization, so most of the boys are students of the Tucson public schools. Their singing activities are arranged to conflict as little as possible with their normal school activities. Rehearsals are held during the afternoons or evenings or on Saturday mornings, usually for 90-minute periods three times a week.

By special arrangement, the boys chosen for the annual winter tour are allowed to make up their school work with tutors after they return home. Only those boys of high scholastic standing are selected for the touring Chorus, and they find that the extra work is a small price to pay for the excitement of making the tour.

Recent highlights have been a performance for the International Convention of Kiwanis Clubs in Seattle; another appearance on Ed Sullivan's TV show, telecast from the deck of the battleship USS Wisconsin in New York Harbor on Armed Forces Day, May 22, 1955; and another New York recital in the Town Hall, on February 20, 1956.

During June and July of 1955, Caso led 30 of his blue-jeaned, high-booted and ten-gallon-hatted young cowboys on their first tour of Europe. In England, Portugal, Spain, France, Germany and Sweden, the boys scored smashing successes and everywhere won good will for their city, their state and their country. A return tour is scheduled for the near future.

To Nominate Candidates—

The political battle for City offices will begin to take shape next week when the two parties hold their caucuses and conventions.

Party delegates will meet to nominate candidates for one alderman from each ward, the chief of police, police judge, city attorney, treasurer, collector and two school board members.

Republicans will hold their caucuses Monday night and elect 65 delegates to the city convention on Wednesday. The meeting places will be as follows:

First ward — first precinct, City Hall; second precinct, Mark Twain School; third precinct, Hubbard School.

Second ward — first precinct, Engine House No. 1; second precinct, 434 North Washington; third precinct, Jefferson School.

Third ward — first precinct, Washington School; second precinct, Whittier School; third precinct, Washington School; fourth precinct, Smith-Cotton; second precinct, Whittier School.

Fourth ward — first precinct, Broadway School; second precinct, Broadway School; third precinct, assembly room at courthouse; fourth precinct, Horace Mann School; and fifth precinct, assembly room at courthouse.

Democrats will hold their caucuses Thursday night and elect 100 delegates to the city convention on Saturday. The meeting places will be as follows:

First ward, Mark Twain School; second ward, Jefferson School; third ward, Washington School; and fourth ward, Broadway School.

The aldermen whose terms expire this time are Harry Moore, first ward; Roland Snavely, second ward; Dr. Ira White, third ward; and Carlton Kelley, fourth ward.

Meeting time will be 7:15 p.m. for the Republicans and 7:30 for the Democrats.

The two school board members whose term expires this time are William F. Brown, Democrat, and Forrest Benner, Republican.

Confusion On Fire Alarm Here Saturday

A confusion of fire alarms arose Saturday morning when an alarm was turned in for 316 East Morgan, where a washing machine motor was on fire. But it was the wrong address; it should have been 316 East Market, Warrensburg. Nevertheless, the local companies hurried to the East Morgan address to find no one had called for the fire department.

It seems a worried wife of a Whiteman Air Force Airman had become alarmed over her washing machine motor burning and called her husband at the air base. He in turn called for the fire department, but apparently in dialing for for Warrensburg dialed the wrong number and got Sedalia, then turned in the alarm.

The firemen thought when the street, "Market," was given, it probably was meant for "Morgan." Later, the supervisor, in checking the call, learned it came from the air base, traced the name of the right town and street number, and the Warrensburg fire companies took care of things at the other end.

Sedalia fire officials marked it down on their books as "false alarm," and run No. 96 for the year.

Adlai Takes Issue With Ike Approach

DETROIT, March 10—(AP)—Adlai Stevenson said tonight President Eisenhower is seeking re-election on conditions which sound "like the rules for governing a kingdom or a corporation."

"They are not," he added, "the rules for governing a democracy."

Stevenson, in an address prepared for delivery at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, said:

"The President has announced that he is going to run for re-election under certain conditions—conditions relating to the limitations of time and energy which he can give and to how this responsibility can be distributed among his associates.

"But such conditions, as the President stated them last week, sound more like the rules for governing a kingdom or a corporation. They are not the rules for governing a democracy."

He said "finding peace and security is a full-time job for a full-time president."

Raymond Meyers Still In Critical Condition

The condition of Raymond Meyers, 14, 915 East Sixth, injured when he fell from the railroad overpass on East Broadway Thursday morning, remains critical at the Bothwell hospital. The boy has never regained consciousness.

He suffered a fracture of the skull, possible fractures of the right arm and both hips when he fell to the pavement of Broadway about 20 feet below the top of the overpass.

McClellan Accepts Post As Chairman

Will Head Special Senate Committee Checking Lobbying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The special Senate Committee on Lobbying appeared today to have broken its stalemate with an agreement to elect Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) as chairman.

McClellan told newsmen after a meeting of all eight members that he had reluctantly agreed to take the post, subject to an agreement on rules which he arranged to discuss at once with Sen. Bridges (R-NH).

McClellan was nominated for the chairmanship at today's meeting. Bridges was proposed as vice chairman.

Formal elections were put over until an afternoon session to give the two senators a chance to agree on committee procedure. A conflict over rules has prevented the committee from organizing for its investigation.

It was learned earlier that both Republican and Democratic leaders had urged McClellan to accept the chairmanship.

McClellan was said to have told colleagues he would not run the investigation as a "smear machine" or "witch hunt" but would seek to come up with constructive suggestions to improve the laws on lobbying and campaign contributions.

Cancer Facts To Be Medical Forum Subject

"Facts About Cancer" will be the topic for discussion at the Pettis County Medical Forum Tuesday evening, March 20, in the Little Theater at Smith-Cotton High School.

Dr. Everett D. Sugarbaker, Jefferson City, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Sugarbaker has gained national recognition among the medical profession as a specialist in the treatment of cancer. In presenting "Facts About Cancer" he will answer many questions that practically everyone asks at one time or another concerning this disease. When one knows and has authoritative information they can be better assured of receiving proper treatment. Any cancer if detected early has a good chance of being cured if treated properly.

The Pettis County Medical Forums are sponsored by The Sedalia Democrat-Capital and are presented by the Pettis County Medical Society as a public service. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Cypriots Strike In Protest Against Makarios Ousting

Country Paralyzed By General Walkout; Cyprus' British Govt. Patrols Break Up Demonstrations

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 10 (AP)—Clerks, workers, printers and shopkeepers stopped work today, paralyzing Cyprus with a general strike in protest against the exiling Archbishop Makarios, the Greek Orthodox revolutionary who demands union with Greece.

The British-administered government, reacting with grim paratrooper patrols, smashed small demonstrations with tear gas at Limassol, Polis, Kyrenia and Famagusta and warned that the general strike was a violation of emergency regulations.

But Greeks stayed away from their jobs in droves. Only Turkish-run shops were open.

The Archbishop, official sources in London disclosed, was aboard a British warship on his way to the remote Seychelle Islands, 800 miles northeast of Madagascar in the Indian Ocean. There a small bungalow, 1,800 feet above the sea, was reported being readied for his enforced residence.

"It is a delightful place — sunny, peaceful and beautiful" but a bit lonely, said Lady Addis, wife of Gov. Sir William Addis.

The repercussions were violent in Greece, the mother country. Thousands of Greek students and demonstrators shouting "Death to the British," set fire to a British flag at Athens University, surged through Athens streets slashing tires of the British-owned bus company, breaking windows in the British European Airways building and two hotels with British names—the Great Britain and the New England—and attempting to storm the British Embassy.

Greek military guards formed hasty cordons around not only the British but also the American Embassy.

In Crete, too, Greek crowds ransacked the British consulate at Herakleion, tore down the British flag, and raised the Greek flag while the consul hid in the basement for safety.

The Greek government called home its ambassador from London and ordered Greek Minister Christian X. Palamas, its representative at the U. N. to raise the question of Cyprus in the General Assembly when that body meets next fall. Greece has failed to get the question on the agenda at the last two sessions.

Sedalian Hurt In 2-Car Wreck Late Saturday

Mrs. Patricia Wall, 1900 West Third, suffered painful injuries as a result of a two-car accident on U. S. Highway 50 about three miles east of the State Highway Patrol headquarters near Lee's Summit. The accident occurred about 6:30 p.m. Saturday while Mrs. Wall was enroute back to Sedalia from Kansas City.

Mr. Wall reported from St. Luke's hospital at Kansas City, where his wife was taken, that she suffered injuries to the pelvis, laceration over the right eye which took stitches to close and bruises. Her injuries are not believed to be serious. She was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Mrs. Wall was accompanied by her father, John H. Wells, 523 Chestnut who suffered minor bruises.

She was driving east on Highway 50 in a 1955 Ford car and on a curve the car and a car driven by Mrs. Mabel Sherman, 57, of Route 1, Gravois, Mo., going west sideswiped. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Mr. Wall, notified of the accident, left immediately for Kansas City to be with his wife. He was met enroute to Kansas City by Mr. Wells, who was accompanying a State Highway Trooper, and together they went to the hospital.

Director Appoints 11 To Committee

Group to Act As Advisory Unit For Child Welfare

A committee of 11 members has been appointed by Proctor N. Carter, director of the State Division of Welfare, to serve in an advisory capacity to the Child Welfare Unit in Pettis County, according to Miss Roseanne Dugan, director of the Pettis County Welfare Office.

The unit, headed by Mrs. Ena Killingsworth, was first established Jan. 1, 1955, through the cooperation of the juvenile court and county court of Pettis County with the State Division of Welfare.

When appointing the advisory committee, which is an integral part of the child welfare program, Carter highly commended the Pettis County Court for its financial participation and civic interest in both the establishment and continuation of this service to children in Pettis County.

The committee whose members have been selected on the basis of their knowledge and interest in the welfare of children, as well as their voluntary participation in organizations and movements for raising standards of child care, are: Mrs. Cline Cain, Mrs. Frank Coffman, Beverly Foster, Edward Heffernan, Judge Dimmitt Hoffman, Mrs. John E. Lamy, Pinkney Miller, Mrs. Olen Monsees, Dr. D. H. Robinson, Mrs. Abe Rosenthal and the Rev. Edward R. Sims.

The function of the committee is to help orient the objectives of the Child Welfare Unit to give maximum services to the community. This can only be achieved, Miss Dugan, pointed out, by sharing of information relative to the resources represented by the schools, medical services, civic, church and other groups with the child welfare worker. She in turn can discuss the unmet needs of children in this county as observed through daily contacts with children and families referred for services.

The committee, with its knowledge of the community, can also point out areas where services are needed and are not being given, as well as methods whereby they might be given more effectively. Another function of the committee will be to gain an understanding of both the legislative background of the child welfare program and the actual services being given so that they might serve as a channel of interpretation to the public.

Services being given at the present time largely fall into four areas, which are adoptive placements including studies of suitable available homes, establishing foster boarding care for children abandoned or neglected by parents, work with children presenting behavior problems and work with unmarried mothers in planning for their children. Appointments may be made with Mrs. Killingsworth by calling the Pettis County Welfare Office at 302 East Sixth, Sedalia.

A meeting of the newly appointed Child Welfare Committee will be called in the near future.

THEY BEGIN GIRL SCOUT WEEK—Today is the start of Girl Scout Week, and these members of Sedalia Troop 1, of Broadway School, pose on the front steps of a church before carrying out their first Girl Scout Week activity—attending the church of their choice as a group. ## 4-H Round-Up with

BOB MASON
Pettis County Asst. Agent

4-H Story Told

The past week has commemorated National 4-H Club Week and the Pettis County 4-H'ers have really made a valid attempt to let the people of Pettis County and surrounding territory know the true 4-H story. The six 4-H'ers who participated in the TV show Wednesday night really did a nice job of telling about 4-H work. The display sponsored by the Pettis County 4-H Council also was very excellent and informed the public about the various phases of 4-H club work. In addition to this, several clubs and individuals devoted time on radio to tell about club work and have sent in newspaper stories on their achievements. These same people and all 4-H members and leaders will have to keep telling the story all through the year so that people really know what 4-H stands for. "Hats off" for a job well done, but there is still a lot of ground to be ploughed.

April 1 Enrollment Date

During this next week we shall return to your 4-H club the enrollment blanks you have submitted to this office. We ask you to check these very carefully because the information off these sheets will go to the state 4-H office and will be the official record for each boy and girl enrolled in 4-H club work.

Pettis County Play Festival

Four 4-H clubs will participate in the 4-H competition of the Pettis County Play Festival. These 4-H clubs will participate Monday night, March 12, at Smith-Cotton High School with the doors opening at 7 o'clock and first curtain call at 7:30. The 4-H clubs taking part this year are Striped College 4-H, Quisenberry 4-H, Maplewood 4-H and Georgetown 4-H. The second night of the Play Festival will have the winner of the Smithton Community Play Festival and plays from the Bothwell Extension Club and the Ringen Neighbors Extension Club. The 4-H clubs of Pettis County will supply the between acts entertainment. Winners of both sections as well as presentation for the outstanding play will be given following the last play on Tuesday night.

Nobody "spared the horses" in the '56 Chevrolet!

It looks high priced—but it's the new "Two-Ten" 4-Door Sedan, with Body by Fisher—one of 20 new Chevrolet beauties.

This new beauty's got power. Big, deep-breathing power that's panther-quick and silk-smooth. Power that puts new kick in your driving and makes passing far safer.

Feather-touch the gas pedal—and you find out right quick that nobody spared the horses here!

A flick of your toe is all it takes to unleash a hoodful of power. Power that makes passing far safer by saving seconds when they really count! Power that's smooth as silk—and as full of action as a string of firecrackers. Power that ranges up to 225 h.p.!

But power's just one of the things that make for safer, happier driving in a Chevy.

For instance, you get safety door latches in all models. Directional signals, too, are included as standard equipment in every new Chevrolet. And Chevrolet alone in its field offers the security of a sound and solid Body by Fisher—plus the nailed-down stability of a real road car!

Come on in and see how the hot one handles. Why not make it soon?

Air conditioning—temperatures made to order—at new low cost. Let us demonstrate!

Other Methods Of Computing Farm Income

By SCOTT WEBBER
District Manager of the Sedalia Social Security Office

In my last article I explained what is generally meant by farming and ranching self-employment net earnings which must be reported for social security purposes. Today, I shall describe the optional method which, under some circumstances, can be used by self-employed farm people who operate on a cash basis in figuring their net earnings.

If your gross income is not more than $1,800 you can report either your actual net income if $400 or more, or one half of your gross income if your gross is $800 or more.

If your gross income is over $1,800 you must figure out your actual net earnings, but, if they are less than $900, you can report either the actual net amount or $900.

If you have other earnings from self-employment you add them to your earnings from farm self-employment. Then, if your total net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more they are subject to the self-employment tax and can be counted for social security.

The optional method of reporting net earnings can be used only by the cash basis farmer or rancher who operates as a sole proprietor; a member of a farm partnership may not use the optional method even though the partnership reports on a cash basis.

The optional method, moreover, is used only in computing self-employment tax, and applies only to farm income. If you also have other self-employment earnings the optional method will not apply to those earnings. You may use either the regular method or the optional method in figuring the amount of your net earnings from farm self-employment; that amount should then be added to your net earnings from other self-employment in order to get your total net earnings from self-employment.

In my next and final article in this series I shall discuss the due date for filing your income tax return, reporting your net earnings for social security purposes, and paying your social security tax.

Self-employed farmers should report their 1955 net income for social security credit and pay the self-employment tax not later than April 15, 1956. Watch for a full explanation of these reporting requirements in a later installment of this series.

DANGER: H-BOMBS FALLING!

Shaded is the danger area that will be established in the north Pacific for the forthcoming April nuclear tests at the U.S. Eniwetok Proving Ground. The area comprises roughly 375,000 nautical square miles. The test explosions, slated to include experimental firing of "small" H-bombs and nuclear warheads for antiaircraft and other missiles, are expected to continue into June or possibly July. This year's danger area is slightly smaller than the 445,000-square-mile hazard region set up while last year's big H-bomb tests were under way, but it is considerably larger than the danger area set up at the start of those tests.

Tons of Food Are Consumed At Smith-Cotton Cafeteria

Fifteen thousand pounds of potatoes, that's a lot of potatoes — more than seven tons. Yet, it takes that many potatoes to serve the noon day meals in a year at Smith-Cotton High School Cafeteria, with 900 to 1,000 youngsters going through the lines daily.

But that isn't all. Mrs. Myrtle Scotten, supervisor-manager, was breathless herself when she began counting up how many pounds of everything was used a year. In the meat line, the cafeteria uses 2,291 pounds of ham; 4,577 pounds of hamburger, and that doesn't count the hamburger provided by the government; 1,530 pounds of wieners; and 1,709 pounds of roast beef. In the canned goods, it uses 77 cases of green beans, 80 cases of peas, 80 cases of apple sauce, 35 cases of spinach, 54 cases of cherries, 56 cases of apples, 30 cases of pork and beans, 30 cases of peaches, 2,400 cases of pumpkin, and 2,400 cases of tomatoes.

Sugar adds up to 3,400 pounds in a year; flour 3,100 pounds; eggs, 30 cases; half pints of milk, 98,668; loaves of bread, 3,907; plus 2,413 buns, and 1,100 pounds of dried beans.

Morning is a busy time in the cafeteria, getting ready for all the youngsters and teachers for lunch. There are pies to be made and the women in the kitchen make around 50 to 60 pies a day, and about eight cakes. On the days when rolls are served, they make those, too — 1,200 of them. That is as many as they are able to bake in time for lunch.

None of this amount of food includes any of the banquets that might be served sometimes in the evening. That food is purchased special and paid for from the amount taken in at the banquets.

There are two shifts of serving each day, one at 11:45 a.m. and the other at 12:45 p.m. There are two lines formed and the serving is done quickly with about 40 students assisting.

When the cafeteria was started five years ago, Mrs. Scotten took over and has the same personnel that she had when she started. Mrs. Emerson Matthews is her secretary, and the other four women employed at the cafeteria are Mrs. J. W. Mickens, Mrs. Roy Hill, Mrs. Cecil Glenn and Mrs. Grace Richey. Charles Salmons is in charge of the dish room and H. R. Ruffin is custodian.

Paul I. Byrne To Be Speaker For Rotarians

Paul I. Byrne

"Better Government at a Better Price" will be the topic Paul I. Byrne, public relations director of Missouri Public Expenditure Survey, will speak at the noon meeting of the Rotary Club Monday at Bothwell Hotel.

The opportunity to reduce the tremendous cost of our federal government and improve efficiency presented by the work of the Second Hoover Commission forms the framework for the talk.

Missouri Public Expenditure Survey, a privately supported government research group, is working with similar organizations in 37 other states in emphasizing the importance of the work of the Commission on reorganization of the federal government. Known popularly as the "Second Hoover Commission," its reports indicate that the cost of federal government can be reduced from five to seven billion dollars annually if all recommendations made by the Commission are put into effect.

In recent talks Byrne has emphasized that Missouri citizens should study the report and make their views known to their lawmakers in Washington so that the Commission's report will get the prompt and courageous action that good government requires.

Byrne, a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, was formerly state representative for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Before that he supervised laboratory courses in advertising at the University of Missouri while doing graduate work in journalism there.

E. L. McClung, program chairman, will introduce the speaker.

Four Persons Hurt In Car Crash Friday

Four persons were injured, none believed seriously, in a two-car crash on U. S. Highway 50 about two miles east of Sedalia Friday afternoon. Both vehicles were extensively damaged. The accident occurred about 4:35 p.m.

Mrs. Ada Wehemier, 65, wife of Norman Wehemier, Star Route, Smithton, driver of one car, suffered bruises about the head. She was alone in her car.

Archie Richardson, 48, Fayette, driver of the second auto, suffered an injury to his right knee. X-ray pictures were taken to determine the extent of the injury.

C. E. Arnold, 46, of Midway, Mo. near Columbia, suffered an injury to his nose, and his upper dental plate was broken when thrown against the windshield of the car. He was riding with Richardson.

Brent Kyte, 19, a student at the University of Missouri who was hitchhiking to his home in Joplin, was riding in the rear seat of Richardson's car and suffered a neck injury. X-ray pictures were taken to determine the extent of his injury.

Dr. John B. Carlisle treated Arnold and Richardson while Dr. John Lamy treated Mrs. Wehemier and Kyte.

Both McLaughlin's and Ewing's ambulances went to the scene and took the injured to the Bothwell hospital.

Mrs. Wehemier was driving a 1954 Bel Air Chevrolet tudor sedan east on Highway 50 and was making a left turn into a driveway to a home recently purchased and Richardson was headed west on the highway driving a 1954 Ford sedan.

The Ford crashed mid-center of the Chevrolet, spinning it around into a ditch, and the Ford came to stop on the highway. The right side of the Chevrolet was smashed in, the windshield shattered, and glass in the windows on the side broken. The front end of the Ford was damaged and the windshield shattered.

WSCS District Holds Workshop To Help World Understanding

"Our Problems Are World Problems" was the subject on which Dr. Lewis B. Carpenter, Kansas City, talked Thursday morning at the Workshop on World Understanding of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church in the Sedalia district held at the Fifth Street Methodist Church.

Dr. Carpenter is president of National College for Christian Workers in Kansas City.

Dr. Carpenter praised the Methodist women in the great work interpreting the problems of the world and doing something about them. He pointed out that it was their combined efforts that made possible the passing of the children's program through writing their Congressmen.

"We Americans," said Dr. Carpenter, "have three unique problems. They are not world problems but we are always greatly concerned with what we are going to wear, what we are going to eat and where we are going to park. A vast percentage of people on this earth have only one thing to wear and they have no choice of food. Such things are happening right here in America, too, as well as in other countries."

There was a time, Dr. Carpenter told the group when he himself did not have a choice of food. His father was the pastor of a very small church and there were four children. The salary was $600 a year. Every so often the congregation would have a donation party for the preacher and when all had gone except the finance committee, the committee would go over the donations and credit each person on their church obligation through what they had brought. Each member brought what they were very certain the pastor and his family needed most — dried beans. So there was no choice of food, it was dried beans.

During the week of Christmas, the congregation ran short of money because they had to buy Christmas presents and thus his father was given $3 for that week. Each of the four children received a 25-cent gift that year because there was not enough money to buy more.

There is still the problem in America where there is no choice of food, but in India children die because there is no food at all, yet there is a great surplus of food in this country that often times is allowed to spoil.

Dr. Carpenter stated that America becomes so self centered and so busy that we find ourselves involved in wars. After World War I, in which we sacrificed so much and came out with great idealism, we got too busy again and the idealism was lost. Because of this Woodrow Wilson became a broken and defeated man. Nations were swept into dictatorship and we were as much to blame as any group of people in the world. Then came the era when there was overproduction, the stockmarket crashed, a large percentage of the people in this country were on relief, and people of other nations became discouraged. Because of this, nation after nation accepted dictatorship. They gave up hope.

Americans learned too late we were in a world with problems that out of necessity we had helped to create.

After World War II came the United Nations, and this time there is an effort to understand the problems and the largest educational project in the world in attempting to place materials and inspiration in the hands of the people. So much injustice has been done America by our means of communications and we are becoming the most misunderstood nation in the world, Dr. Carpenter said.

The Methodists have done more to interpret the UN than any other group, Dr. Carpenter said, and he went on to say our historical past should not be pointed out, but rather the direction we are going. We may not solve the problems of the world but if we can only ease the tension and create a climate for world peace.

Mrs. John A. Silsby, secretary of Christian social relations and local church activities of the district, presided over the workshop.

A panel preceded Dr. Carpenter's address. Mrs. T. A. Huffine, the first speaker, spoke on the work of the community, urging that work begins in the community. Organization in a community, she said, is needed where people work together against delinquency, broken homes, and for better schools or whatever is necessary for a better community. If you think something should be done in the home community, she said, transfer your feelings into action.

Mrs. John Calhoun talked on the subject, "Family Life," and stated the family basic unit of society is important. Everybody carries in his heart, she said, something he got from his home, most often the love of his parents and family. A child, she said, needs to feel secure.

Mrs. Robert Grimes talked on "The Nation" and told the group that the nation started out on immigration. From each country were picked the best traditions and we should do that today. Immigration is the center of world peace, and as long as we shut them out with our government how can we have them in our hearts?

Mrs. George Hart, president of the Sedalia district, talked on "The World" and told of the want and poverty. She told of the UN and the program of technical assistance to those who need it.

The noon meal was served at long tables in the church basement. Flags of all UN countries were used as decoration and on one table was a world globe surrounded with flags, and on the other a miniature reproduction of the UN structure surrounded by the flags of all countries.

Music was led by Mrs. George Lovercamp, with Mrs. J. W. Watts at the piano.

The speaker of the afternoon was J. W. VanDerEnt of Sedalia, a native of Indonesia, who gave a talk on his own country and the dangers there if the United States did not take the trouble to understand. It is a place of wealth and beauty, but the people of the country need help, he said.

Discussion groups were held, after the talk, on "A Community Where Children Are Emotionally Secure" by Mrs. George Hart Jr., "A Community Free From Segregation," the Rev. Lee F. Soxman; "A Community With Adequate Educational Facilities," the Rev. Robert Lehew; and "A Community That Guarantees Civil Liberties to All People," Judge Dimmitt Hoffman.

"Presentation of Resource Material and Program Planning" was presented by Mrs. George Hart, Jr. and the meeting closed with meditation by Mrs. John Calhoun and benedition.

Reveille Without Bugles

FORT LEE, Va. (AP) — "Some day I'm going to murder the bugler, some day they're going to find him dead."

The words of the old song don't apply to soldiers here. There is no bugler. "You got to get up, you got to get up" is broadcast by 22 pretty girls, telephone operators at the Quartermaster training school through 35 loudspeakers.

The bugler is a casualty of the mechanical age, reserved now for such solemn occasions as military funerals.

Thirsty Burglars

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Burglars apparently worked up a thirst when they robbed the Dover Club. They stole several packages of ice cream and cigarettes and turned on the beer taps behind a bar.

When the burglary was discovered several hours later, 3½ kegs of beer had either flowed down the drain or quenched the thirst of the robbers.

Cured meats do not retain the original flavor when frozen because the fat portion tends to become rancid.

If more people knew about the almost miraculous work Nature performs after the spinal distortions have been corrected, the sick would be standing in line to get in.

The intelligence that built your body, the nerve force that makes your eyes see and your heart beat, that heals broken bones, cuts and bruises, is the only power that can cure disease. And even it is helpless when its nerve lines are obstructed. Chiropractic is the science that clears these lines and makes it possible for this life and health-giving force to do its work properly.

Chiropractors are well qualified to serve your health needs. In a few years time Chiropractic has already grown into the second largest healing system, and its growth has been based mostly on good results obtained with so called "hopeless" cases. Chiropractic is good for patients of all ages and for most all ailments. 40 million patients can't be wrong.

Chiropractic principles now endorsed by many medical doctors. Famous M.D. lauds Chiropractic. Dr. Alfred Walton, ex-president and chief of surgical division, Essex hospital, New Jersey, knew the merits of Chiropractic when he wrote: . . . "There are millions whose suffering can only be met by removing the pressure from nerves responsible for the trouble, and that is what Chiropractors are doing constantly."

An increasing number of business and industrial corporations are providing chiropractic health service for their employees. Over 500 insurance companies recognize Chiropractic claims for services rendered by Chiropractors.

Happy Birthday, Girl Scouts

Teaching a girl not to worry too much about freckles on her nose is sometimes a pretty hard job. The Girl Scouts, who this week are celebrating their 44th birthday, have done this and a lot more.

Back in the "good old days" of 1912 when sunshades and freckleless complexions were standard equipment for girls, the first Girl Scout troop met at Juliette Low's home in Savannah, Ga. Since then almost 12 million American women and girls have braved freckles and scratches as they learned through Girl Scouting to hike and cook out-of-doors as well as to be good neighbors and citizens.

Today, there are more than two and a half million Girl Scouts in the United States learning to enjoy their own skills and talents and to be ready to meet big and little problems ahead. By now, their trim green uniforms are a familiar part of any American scene . . . in crowded city areas, in small towns and even in hundreds of U.S. military installations overseas.

In celebrating their birthday, the Girl Scouts have chosen "This Is Our Town" as their motto and are planning a salute to the city of Sedalia. Throughout Girl Scout Week, Girl Scouts in Sedalia will be showing us why Sedalia is a pretty good town to live in. We agree! We'll even hazard a guess that Girl Scouts and their capable leaders are doing their share to keep it that way!

Report to Ike On Farm, Highway Bills

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Needless to say, there were no long faces among Republican leaders of Congress when they called at the White House for their first legislative meeting with President Eisenhower following announcement that he would seek re-election.

Even sober-minded Bill Knowland of California, Senate GOP leader, whose own presidential hopes were jettisoned by the Eisenhower declaration, seemed in high spirits. Knowland joined in congratulating the President, remarked that he hasn't "looked better" since the adjournment of the last Congress.

"I feel fine," agreed Ike. "Now that the tension is off, I hope we're all happier. I know I am. The outlook for the campaign is excellent. I've been getting splendid reports from all over the country."

As the President and his callers got down to legislative business, Ike added with a sly grin: "Now I really would be ready for a celebration if Congress passed my flexible-support farm bill."

GOP leaders frankly reported that it was too early to celebrate on this but that the prospects for flexible supports were by no means hopeless if the farm bill was referred to a joint conference of the two Houses of Congress.

House leaders Joe Martin and Charlie Halleck were more optimistic about the super-highway bill, another measure that has high priority with Eisenhower. They reported that GOP members of the House ways and means committee were confident that a satisfactory "financing plan" would be worked out for the highway bill, though not embodying the President's original proposal for the banks to float a bond issue.

Ike replied that he still didn't favor the committee pay-as-you-go tax compromise worked out by the Democrats, but was willing to go along if this was the only hope of getting the super-roads bill through Congress.

NOTE — The Democrats have proposed taxes on tires, gasoline, diesel oil, and a weight tax on trucks to finance the super-highways. They argue that a bond issue would mean gravy for the big bankers and shove the burden of payment on to the next generation.

Conflict of Interest

A possible conflict of interest lurks behind the scenes in the sudden opening up of the nation's wildlife refuges to oil and gas leasing after 50 years of resisting the oil companies.

An ex-official of the Interior Department, Harry J. Donohue, former aide to assistant secretary for public land management Wesley D'Ewart, has now gone to work for an oil company. Donohue left Interior within a few days after new regulations were issued opening 252 wildlife refugees to oil and gas operations. He has accepted as one of his first clients the Toklan Oil Corporation.

Interestingly enough, the Toklan Oil Corporation has an option on 20 oil-lease applications that were filed with the Interior Department by a speculator way back in 1951. To date the Interior Department has refused to grant the leases.

The lands involved are in the Lower Souris National Wildlife Refuge in North Dakota, one of the prize refuges opened to commercial oil operations while Donohue was still in the department.

Queried by this column as to whether he would be barred from representing the Toklan Oil Corporation in view of his recent connection with Interior, Donohue replied: "I don't think so."

"I've looked over the regulations," Donohue said, "and generally speaking, a former employe is only barred from defending a case involving a claim against the United States government. My clients are only interested in oil leases, and they don't constitute a claim."

Fact is, however, that Interior's rules of practice prohibit a former official from practicing before the department "with respect to any matter to which he personally gave consideration or as to which he personally gained knowledge while serving as an officer or employee of the United States. . . ."

Under the rules, Donohue can represent Toklan Oil if he gets the okay of the department's solicitor. He has just applied for such permission, and it will be interesting to see whether Solicitor Armstrong decides that there is a conflict of interest involved, or whether he grants approval on the grounds that Donohue neither "gave consideration to" nor "gained knowledge" about oil leasing in wildlife refuges while he was with Interior.

Merry-Go-Round

Secretary of the Interior McKay hasn't held a single, solitary press conference since May, 1953. That's almost three years. Harold Ickes, who kept a disagreeable though watchful eye on the public domain, held press conferences once a week, sometimes oftener. . . . Maybe McKay doesn't want to be cross-examined about how he let part of the Rogue River forest slip through his fingers, also why he gave oil drilling permits, and leased part of the Lacassine Wildlife Refuge to Ike's good friends, Frankfort Oil, a subsidiary of Seagram's whiskey. . . . Attorney General Brownell hasn't held a press conference since Oct. 21, 1955. That's nearly five months. He also ducked eight invitations from Senate committees to testify, finally was put in such a hot spot that he did appear before the Judiciary Committee on Dixon-Yates. . . . In England, it's a tradition with important families to go into government service for the good of the empire. The tradition isn't followed to the same extent in the USA, but the USA would be better off if it was. So, congratulations to Ralph Gardner, son of the late O. Max Gardner, governor of North Carolina. Ralph has given up a lucrative law practice in Washington to run for Congress in the 11th district of North Carolina. He should make a tip-top public servant.

The Lamp of Learning

Books, honest books, up-to-date but cheaply priced books — have been cited as one of the greatest needs in Japan, India and the Middle East. Returning from a study of educational institutions in these countries, Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University has reported:

"The schools are overrun with students, but there is a serious shortage of textbooks. I was told the Russians do make an effort to supply cheap books."

Of course they do. Almost any traveler who has spent any length of time in these uncommitted nations of Asia knows that paper-backed books printed in Moscow — dishonest books interpreting history, law, politics and sociology all in terms of Communist economics — are on sale for only a few pennies in almost any book shop or sidewalk stand. As Dr. Kirk reported the United States, by contrast, has sent to these countries only inadequate numbers of outdated editions.

When is Congress going to get interested enough to start a real book program abroad — with both old used books and new paperbacked editions? And will the United States be able to afford setting up propaganda presses such as the Communist run day and night in Peking? For in all of Asia, the U. S. Information Service has about only one-fourth the press and printing facilities operated by nearby Communists.

Americans waste economic assistance upon peoples who do not understand what it is for, or why the United States undertakes to give it. These people have read Communist books telling Communist ideas about such aid. They would read American answers if American books were available, cheap. Books, books and more books will have to find their way from America to Asia. The government should have a real, well-organized program underway for just that, and the sooner the better.

Largest Worm

World's largest worm is the Australian megascolides. They average four to six feet long, and some may reach 11 feet. Some are an inch thick and may weigh a pound or more. These worms are a favorite delicacy of the duck-billed platypus.

Guest Editorial—

LINCOLN (NEB.) JOURNAL: For That Sunday Neurosis. A learned psychologist — it says here — has come out with a warning against a new American disability, which he calls the Sunday afternoon neurosis. This he defines as a nervous ailment, whose victim doesn't know what to do with himself but "feels guilty because he isn't working."

This sounds peculiar, indeed, to Americans, but the account didn't say whether the scientist knew such people in his native England or in Los Angeles, his home of late years. But a reader remembered just such a victim, who finally cured himself by a very simple treatment. Whenever he felt a spell of Sunday afternoon neurosis coming on, he didn't wrestle with his guilty feeling. He didn't try to beat it down by mowing the lawn or washing the car or dusting the plants for parasites. He simply pulled the shades and lay down with his Sunday afternoon neurosis for a long Sunday afternoon nap. When he got up, there wasn't a trace of those guilty feelings that came from not working. He was able to loaf happily for the rest of the day.

"Shucks, neighbors," says the editor of the Minneapolis Times to the psychologist and his patient, "you're just overtired. Lie down and have a snooze."

Dr. Jordan Says—

Patient Must Adjust To Living With Migraine Pain

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

One of the most serious forms of headache is that known as migraine. Although we know that there is a strong family tendency to this form of headache and although much work has been done on it, the complete answer to the prevention or cure of those suffering from migraine headaches is still to be attained.

Certainly only some of those headaches from which people suffer can be properly classed as migraine—and the exact diagnosis is important. Some of those with migraine suffer difficulty with vision especially before the headache starts. They often have the headache on one side only and sometimes they have changes in mood or other signs which foreshadow the coming of an attack.

In a recent excellent review of this subject by a Boston physician it was pointed out that patients with migraine could be divided into three main groups.

1. Those whose attacks are so infrequent that they could be called an unpleasant nuisance.

2. Those whose attacks occur with such frequency or severity that family, business and social life is seriously disturbed.

3. Those whose attacks are so frequent and severe that a state of chronic invalidism is produced.

The same physician made a statement regarding treatment of migraine which he says all parties to the program need to understand. This is so good that I should like to quote from it with occasional change in wording:

"That at present there is no magic medicine or formula of treatment that universally 'cures' migraine. That the patient is 'not to blame' for having inherited the migraine trait. That the pain and misery of the migraine attack are very real and not 'imaginary'.

"That neither patient, doctor nor husband (or wife) should be intolerant, but rather all should work for better understanding of each other. That the patient and the family have the greater burden in therapy, and that the doctor is going to act as a friendly guide rather than as a 'miracle man.' That the whole program will require a considerable period, with frequent reviews of progress, temporary setbacks, changes of therapeutic signanls and gradual re-education.

"That the most rewarding long-term therapy will be concerned with adjusting the patient's way of living to his or her capacities rather than with an endless round of medication. That the patient cannot be expected to make all the necessary adjustments overnight. That changes in psychological attitudes become real only through actual practice, not verbal instruction.

"That there is definite hope for improvement through conscientious effort by both patient and physician, but that complete freedom from migraine is rarely achieved by any therapeutic program."

Why Don't the TV Dramas Take Up Our Real Struggles?

Why do the writers of TV dramas think that the average man and his wife are most interested in plays about psychopathic killers, young hoodlums running from the law or on parole, and in murder, murder, murder?

Why do they think they're not interested in plays that attempt to solve some of the problems of everyday living?

For years both men and women have been writing me about their frustrations, their problems, and their struggles to make their marriages happier, to be better parents, and to help their aging parents find a satisfactory life.

These are the things they think about and worry about. These are their challenges.

Plays touching on any of these problems, if well written and without pat endings, would surely find an interested audience.

Why, then, are normal people trying to meet life's problems asked, night after night, to watch the solution to problems that in no way touch them directly or are ever likely to?

If we are going to have problem plays why not make them about problems that face a great majority of the people watching the screen?

Do the TV producers think the TV audience is made up of people who want to escape their real problems by watching plays about things so remote from them they don't seem real?

If they do they may be missing a bet. Certainly my mail doesn't indicate that people are trying to escape.

People are looking desperately for answers to the problems of everyday living.

What a wonderful chance TV producers have to turn these problems into realistic dramas if they would only make the effort to give us something normal instead of so much neurotic nonsense.

Start Of Spring

I saw a robin in the yard,
A crocus is in bloom,
A little breeze is trying hard
To chase old winter's gloom;
The sun is shining, air is warm,
Tree buds begin to swell,
About the earth there is a charm
That everyone knows well;
I watched a little worm today
Stretch its wee self and squirm,
Now that's a certain sign, they say,
Of spring — a fishing worm;
The birds have started building nests
With grass and bits of string,
And suddenly we find we're blest
With all the joys of spring;
The boys are playing marbles now,
The girls are jumping rope,
And over everything, somehow,
The feeling of new hope
Awakening again, good earth,
And always there's a reason,
The glory of the great re-birth
That ends the Lenten season.

As Sedalia Sees It—

HST Was Big On Big Issues, But Tolerated Peccadilloes

By Joseph A. Dear
Democrat-Capital
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—In his memoirs Harry Truman presents the most meaningful and complete picture of the presidential office available anywhere.

For this reason the importance of the memoirs, published by Doubleday, is undiminished by plainly partisan argumentation of the author. The memoirs are Mr. Truman's political testament, so it is hardly surprising they are self-serving to an extent.

No where is mention made of the scandals that wracked the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Nor is there a word about the abrupt departure of J. Howard McGrath from the Justice Department, which had fallen from grace during the Truman Administration.

It is not nit-picking to point out these omissions. The great offense of the Truman regime was it's toleration of the peccadillo. On big issues HST was big.

And here in his memoirs he can be seen grappling matter of factly with one earth shaking problem after another. By page four he has decided on civilian control of atomic energy. Then the issue of military unification thrust itself upon him. He saw at once that the problem of national defense "involved not just reorganization of the armed forces but actual coordination of the entire military, economic, and political aspects of security and defense."

And so it goes, policies passing in review. The H-bomb. Taft-Hartley. Civil Rights. The stunning campaign of 1948. Korea.

The old-shoe writing style of Mr. Truman makes the business of the President seem deceptively simple at times. It's merely a matter of making a decision.

On the farm front, for example, Truman was weighing the Brannan plan. One of the controversial Brannan proposals was to restrict the size of price support payments to the farmers. Secretary Brannan warned that this proposal might stir up trouble.

"Well Charlie," Truman said, "it is right, isn't it?" Brannan said yes. And that was it.

At a special White House dinner conference, convened to consider the course United States should follow after the Red onslaught in Korea, General Bradley said we would have to draw the line somewhere. Truman writes: "I said emphatically I thought the line would have to be drawn." So it was.

Truman, the President from a border state, is the man who breathed life into the ideal of civil rights which has been endorsed in every Democratic platform since 1932. HST quotes, with favor, this exchange between a reporter and Strom Thurmond, the States Rights candidate in 1948:

Reporter: "President Truman is only following the platform that Roosevelt advocated."

Thurmond: "I agree but Truman really means it."

Thurmond was right. Truman was for civil rights although he knew it might cost him Southern States. A trimmer would have cut at that point. But not Truman. He barged ahead, and won in spite of the States Rights party.

"Popularity and glamour," Truman writes, "are only part of the factors involved in winning presidential elections. One of the most important of all is luck. . . If a man starts out to make himself President, he hardly ever arrives. Henry Clay is an outstanding example. He was so sure he would be President that he twice refused the vice presidency, and in both cases he would have succeeded to the highest office because of the death of the President. . . And I was convinced that Thomas E. Dewey was another whose determined efforts. . . would never materialize."

Perhaps the most controvesial decision Mr. Truman reached came after the Chicoms entered the Korean war. The dismissal of General MacArthur was a reflection of the underlying problem, which was the nature of our response. The Truman Administration, and the Eisenhower Administration accepted its answer, decided to be satisfied with a limited victory.

Mr. Truman puts his case very well. But there is still debate as to whether his answer was correct. Red China emerged from the war with its prestige enhanced. We saved South Korea, but failed to unify the country. To a degree, therefore, our prestige suffered. And never since has there been an honorable chance to retrieve the loss.

Democrat Pick-Ups

Odds and Ends By News Staff

TELLING ABOUT A meeting she had attended a woman was describing the speakers.

She mentioned one man who has a hobby of woodwork.

"What did he talk about?" asked someone.

There was surprised and curious looks on the faces of most of the group when, without thinking how it sounded, she said:

"He showed us his chest."

Seeing the frantic motions of one in the group she explained quickly, "I mean he showed us the chest he had made, he talked on wood carving, you know." — H. L.

RASPBERRIES GROWING in yards was something new to the little boy whose family had just moved to a new home next door to a woman who had a row of raspberry bushes along the dividing fence. There was nothing he liked more than raspberries and he was delighted.

"You mustn't take any," his mother told him. "They belong to the woman next door and you mustn't touch them."

There was disappointment on his face — he did like raspberries so much and he had thought now he could have all he wanted. For a moment he stood there and looked at them, then he looked up at his mother: "Do you suppose she would care," he asked, "if I just stood here and licked them?"

— H. L.

LEAVING HER OFFICE one evening, the woman slammed the door and immediately realized that her purse with her car keys, her billfold and all her purse possessions were locked behind that door — yes, even to the office keys that would get her through that door again.

Well, all she could do was to call a cab and go home, so that is what she did. Then she telephoned her husband and asked him to bring home a loaf of bread for dinner. He told her he was too busy to come home, but suggested that she come out to his place of business and they would go to some nearby eating place and get dinner.

She refused and her reason was a good one. She couldn't get out there because she had no car to drive, now that she had no car keys. Everything revolved around that purse.

She took the only two pieces of bread she had in the house and fixed herself a sandwich. Then she started to get ready for a party she was going to that evening. She had to call a friend and ask her to come by for her. That was really something different — she was usually always the one who was going by for somebody else.

She hunted up another purse and took it along for show only because she didn't have anything to go in it except a compact.

When the party was over she put the nearly empty purse down on a table while she put on her wraps, and when she turned to pick up the pocketbook it was gone.

She looked and looked for that purse while her companions waited impatiently.

"Are you still looking for that lost purse?" someone asked her.

"This is another purse," said the woman.

It didn't seem possible that a woman could lose two purses in one day, but that was what happened.

"Come on," said her sister, but the woman wasn't going to leave the place until she found her purse. Somebody in the crowd surely had just picked it up by mistake, and she began wandering around looking at everybody's purse. Finally she saw a woman with it in her hand.

"Is that your purse or is it mine?" she asked.

The woman looked down and was shocked to find she had somebody else's purse.

"Oh, my goodness!" she said. "This isn't my purse."

So then another search was started for the other woman's purse. When that purse was found, the crowd went home.

The next morning the woman who had locked her first purse in her office had to go over to the home of her boss and go to the office with him, because she didn't have a car nor a key with which to get in after she got there. From now on she is going to stop before she closes the door and look to see if she has her purse. — H. L.

Hennings Is For Honest Primaries, Too

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

WASHINGTON—By his unwillingness to support the Johnson-Knowland "honest elections" bill, Sen. Tom Hennings (D-Mo.) reminds his colleagues that improper use of money happens in primaries as well as elections.

That's why he prefers his own bill because it would apply to primaries as well as elections. Then he notes that in about one third of the states the primary elections are the crucial tests. So it's argued they should be subjected to the same rules in regard to campaign spending.

Many agree with the Missouri Democrat but, realizing the opposition, are willing to settle for the Johnson-Knowland bill in order to get a bill through this election year. That bill has 49 signatures to assure passage.

Probably the most popular provision in the bill would permit the deduction of political contributions from taxable income.

Also some of the members up for reelection like the objective of getting more free time on radio and television. The limits on campaign spending would be raised, as Senator Hennings has proposed, and provide for full reporting of both campaign gifts and expenditures.

Tigers Capture Class L Regional Crown At Eldon

Smith-Cotton Scores Revenge Victory Over Kewpies, 43-41; Gains Berth In State Tournament

By D. Kelly Scruton
Democrat Sports Editor

T'was no place for anyone with heart trouble—the State Regional at Eldon Friday night—as the Smith-Cotton Tigers and the Hickman Kewpies of Columbia tied into each other for the championship. The Tigers came out on top with a bare margin of two points, 43-41, and now they head for the State Tournament to be played at Washington University, St. Louis.

The Tgiers will meet the winner of the St. Louis University High Regionals, which winner was Cleveland who defeated St. Louis U 57-47. The game will be played at 10 p.m. Wednesday March 14.

The Marshall Owls defeated Jefferson City 70-62 for third place in the Eldon Regionals, the first game Friday night. Sedalia defeated Jefferson City Thursday night in the Semi-Finals to go against Columbia who defeated Marshall.

First Quarter

Smith-Cotton and Hickman's game was a real thriller after the first quarter. But the opening stanza made local fans groan as Hickman moved out in front the first five minutes of play. The Kewpies scored nine points, two goals and five free throws before the Tigers knew what was happening to them. Then with three minutes and 14 seconds left, Rudd Van Dyne broke the ice and dumped in the first goal, Charles Van Dyne was fouled and he pitched in both tries. Then "Van" got one more free throw but missed and the score was 9-4 for the Kewpies. "Van" tipped one it making it 9-6, then Russell Sloan sank one to add to the Columbia score, and Newman was fouled, but he made both shots good giving the Tigers a total of eight, just as the quarter ended Tom Hodges was fouled by Rudd Van Dyne and he made both shots to end the quarter, Kewpies 13, Tigers 8.

Second Quarter

In the second stanza the Tigers began to come to life. But the Columbians continued to keep the gap wide until the last four minutes. Then The Tigers began clicking. They put them through the loop to pull up to within two points, and as the clock rolled over to two minutes and 47 seconds, "Van" succeeded in tipping in the ball which had been shot by Griffin. This tied it up 21-21, but seconds later Jerry O'Hearn shot a long one from the floor and it broke the tie and the half ended with the Kewpies leading 23-21.

Third Quarter

The Kewpies coasted for one minute in the third quarter before the ice was broken and Tom Hodges tossed in a goal from the edge of the free throw circle. "Van" picked it up and pivoted around to toss the ball in the basket. Tom Watson made one for the Kewpies, then Les Griffin hit two from the field to knot the game 27-27 with five minutes 40 seconds to go. Watson was fouled by R. Van Dyne and made one free throw and on the second he missed with Sloan taking the rebound and sinking the ball for an additional two points and again the Kewpies led by three points 30-27. Charles Newman came through to shoot one from the field. With one minute and 57 seconds left, Walt Kennon was fouled and he picked up both shots, the first to again tie up the score and the second to give the Tigers the one-point edge. In the next minute Columbia made five points off of a goal by George Hulett, two free throws by Sloan, and one free throw by Dale Mills. This didn't stop the Tigers and one minute to go Griffin added a field goal, then as the clock ticked 12 seconds, "Van" came through to make a shot from under the basket to tie up the game 35-35 as the horn sounded ending the quarter.

Fourth Stanza

In the fourth quarter O'Hearn scored the first point after the clock had ticked away two and a half minutes by sinking a goal. Rudd Van Dyne shooting from the side of the court dropped one in to tie up the game, then "Van" snapped the tie with a shot from the field, but as the ball went back to the Kewpies, Watson succeeded in dunking the ball to knot it up again 39-39, but "Van" Van Dyne took it on a long toss from Griffin and made the shot good to make the score 41-39. Then the Tigers tried stalling the ball starting with two minutes and 50 seconds to go, and held on to it for one and a half minutes, when Columbia's Sloan rushed in and made it a jump ball. Then on a pass from O'Hearn, Watson sank it again to tie up the game. Columbia made a shot at the basket, missed and "Van" took it on the rebound and the Tigers worked it down the court. "Van" on the outer rim of the free throw zone succeeded in arching the ball to the basket and it rolled the rim and fell through for the two points. Columbia working the ball was headed down court and with three seconds to go, called time. Watson took it on the outside of the court tossed in to Sloan the ball was passed back to Watson who started to make a shot as the horn sounded ending the game.

Swarm Over Team

Seconds later the entire team was swarmed by the big delegation of Smith-Cotton rooters, yelling, screaming and crying over the victory.

Coach Bob Murray used a complete four man defense on Charles "Van" Van Dyne, and it appeared as if he had everybody on the team surrounding him in an endeavor to stop any spree he might start. But Van Dyne kept his average above the 20 mark getting seven goals and seven free throws for 21 points.

Rudd Van Dyne, had a bad night in passing and gave the fans several anxious moments in passing, but he made up for this by coming through to four safe goals for eight points, very much needed in this game with the Kewpies. Les Griffin was shooting from the field and his arching shots were beautiful as they swished down through the netting for four goals and eight points. Charles Newman made one goal but his two chances as free throws were 100 per cent correct. Walt Kennon was a subject of watching by the Kewpies too, after making 12 againstt he Jays Thursday, the Kewpies weren't taking too many chances and switched back and forth keeping a sharp eye on him and "Van" but he did make good two free throw shots, all he had during the game.

The Tigers won a beautiful trophy which was presented to Charles Van Dyne and the team at the conclusion of the ceremonies. Columbia was presented a trophy for second place, Marshall one for third place and the Jays another for fourth.

Liberty Ball Park Has Been Re-Seeded; Not Open for Play

Boys are requested to refrain from using the main ball park at Liberty Park for a few weeks by L. R. Black, superintendent of the Sedalia Park system. The reason is the outfield has been re-seeded and must be given time to take root.

Black explained if the field had not been re-seeded this season Sedalia's baseball park would have turned into a dust bowl. Grass in the outfield has been fairly well beaten down due to football practice held there last fall and with boys playing on it through the winter during good days.

If left alone for a few weeks the park will regain its beauty and will make a much better playing field for baseball.

Black explained the diamonds at Housel Park and Center Park are open for practice and play at the present time.

Cardinals Edge Yanks 1-0 In Exhibition

ST. PETERSBURG, March 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals nipped the New York Yankees 1-0 in 11 innings today as the teams opened the exhibition schedule here.

A crowd of 7,200, second largest opening day audience at Al Lang Field, saw Wally Moon double and score on a single by rookie Pete Whisenant to end the overtime.

The Yankees were held to two hit by three St. Louis pitchers, both blows coming off Ben Flowers in the first two rounds.

The Cards rapped four New York hurlers for eight safeties, with Jim Konstanty the loser. Mickey McDermott, Ralph Terry, and Rip Coleman each tossed three scoreless sessions.

Coleman was saved in the ninth when Mickey Mantle made a great throw to the plate to get Moon, who was trying to score from second base on Whisenant's single to center.

SPECIAL HEAVYWEIGHT MATCH

Mike DiBiase vs. Gentleman Jim Dobie. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

Matches sponsored by Pettis American Legion Post 16.

Referee—Frank Altman (Kansas City).

Tag team matches have become pro wrestling's biggest thrill producers and the season's first tag attraction will headline Tuesday night's mat program in the Armory.

Four equally matched heavyweights are lined up for action in the team struggle which will find Missouri's unbeaten Bill "Red" McIntyre joining forces with Gentleman Jim Dobie of Detroit for the tag venture. They will oppose the all-Nebraska combination composed of villainous Joe Dusek, Omaha, and Mike DiBiase, Lincoln.

Gust Karras, matchmaker for the Legion, said he has been swamped with requests to bring a tag team attraction here. "It's tough to locate four really outstanding heavyweights who are capable of standing up against the rigors of a tag match," Karras commented. "There's no sense in signing a tag match just for the sake of bringing a tag match here.

"But the time is ripe for a team contest now, especially since Joe Dusek has issued his challenge to McIntyre and "Red" has accepted the defy."

In issuing his challenge, Dusek told the matchmaker that "Red" could pick his own partner. Joe had already lined up DiBiase as his teammate.

McIntyre wasted no time in getting Dobie back to Sedalia. "Dobie is my type of wrestler and he certainly proved to the Sedalia fans that he can handle himself against any roughing attack," the popular Cooper County star commented. "With Dobie on my team I feel confident we can give Dusek and DiBiase plenty of trouble if they attempt to outrough us."

The team match is signed for a wrestle to a finish with no time limit barriers, which will assure a winner.

DiBiase will be making his first Armory appearance. While he's never before wrestled here, Mike is no stranger on the national mat scene. He has one of the most excellent amateur backgrounds of any wrestler in the ring today. He is a former national AAU champion and also won three successive Big Seven intercollegiate titles at the University of Nebraska.

Another mat "first" will share the featured spotlight Tuesday when the nation's two top Negro wrestlers—Babs Wingo and Lois Greene—collide in a best-of-three falls finish match. The Negro girls have become outstanding attractions since debuting on the national scene three years ago.

Many followers of wrestling's inner circle have voiced the opinion the Negro girls are more daring and take more chances in a match than the feminine wrestlers of other races. Miss Wingo is ranked No. 1 among the Negro feminine mat stars.

DiBiase will also have a chance to demonstrate his individual prowess when he squares off with Dobie in the one-fall opener Tuesday night at 8:15.

Tourney In KC To Determine US Olympic Squad

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—What may well be the greatest basketball tournament in history will determine the U.S. entry in the 1956 Olympics at Melborne next November.

The best the collegians, the armed forces and the Amateur Athletic Union have to offer will have at it in a four-team round-robin at Kansas City, April 2-3-4. And from that tournament of stars, the U. S. Olympic Basketball Committee will name its 12-man team.

A minimum of five, and as many as seven, members of the winning Kansas City team will provide the nucleus of the Olympic squad. The remaining members of the U. S. team will be selected by the committee from the rosters of the Kansas City tourney clubs.

Seven members of the collegian all-star team already have been named, topped by All-American Bill Russell and K. C. Jones of San Francisco. Also selected in an opening sifting of talent among the outstanding senior players were Jimmy Paxton of Dayton, Hal Lear of Temple, Paul Judson of Illinois, Joe Holup of George Washington and Willie Naulls of UCLA.

The remaining seven members of the collegian team are to be named shortly by A. C. (Dutch) Lonborg, athletic director at Kansas and a member of the Olympic committee.

Dons In Defense Against 17 Teams In NCAA Tourney

By The Associated Press

Eighteen college basketball teams with varying records of success this season start play in the 1956 National Collegiate championship tournament Monday and Tuesday with one idea in common. They all entertain some hope of knocking unbeaten San Francisco off the top perch.

San Francisco won the 1955 championship when it stretched its winning streak to 26 games after an early-season defeat. This season the Dons have won 25 more for a major college record of 51 straight victories.

The nine first-round games in the NCAA tournament touch off two weeks of intensive post-season basketball campaigning. In all, 25 teams qualified for this tournament but seven won't play until the second round next Friday.

'56 Babe Ruth State Tourney Here in Aug.

Sedalia is to be the site for the 1956 Missouri State Babe Ruth baseball tournament it was announced this week by the State Commissioner C. E. Mitchell of Lebanon. The dates have not definitely been set other than it will be the first part of August.

The Regional Tournament will be played at McPhearson, Kan., Aug. 10, 11 and 12.

Although it was impossible for any Sedalians to be at the State meeting held recently, the local representatives at the 1955 tournamen made an informal invitation for the tournament to be held here. The state meeting resulted in a unanimous selection of Sedalia for the site of the 1956 play for which local officials are appreciative.

With this in sight the Sedalia Babe Ruth League should be wheeling into one of its most successful seasons. It is the desire of the league heads to obtain enough sponsors to have at least eight teams in the circuit giving more boys an opportunity to play.

Many boys are stepping up from Little League having reached the age limit of 13 and are ready to move into Babe Ruth for a two to three season stay, the age limit here being 15. Interest in this brand of ball is steadily increasing to the point that Sedalia now has one of the best two youthful baseball programs as any town in the state.

At a meeting of the League the past week at the Elks Club, Rev. Lee Garrison was elected as player agent and Ed Kehde, former president, was elected to the position as local commissioner.

Local business firms who are interested in sponsoring a team are requested to contact President Frank Hanigan. Men who are interested in coaching, managing, or working with the league, likewise are requested to contact the president.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Vic Power's bases-loaded single in the fourth inning gave the Kansas City Athletics their opening exhibition game victory, 3-1 over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Harry Simpson hit a solo home run in the first inning off of Bob Friend to tie the score at 1-1. Power's hit came off Dick Littlefield. It followed a double by Jim Finigan with one out and a pair of bases on balls. Dutch Romberger, the second A's pitcher was the winner.

On Golf

By FRANKIE REYNOLDS

Many of Sedalia's public links golfers responded to the first signs of Spring the past week, dug out their clubs from the mothballs and have begun play early this season at the Sedalia Countryview course, some of them touring the nine-hole layout daily.

George Thomasetti, manager of the Countryview club and course, reports the seasonal membership applications are meeting expectations and that, from all indications, Countryview will see big success this year both monetarily and as a stimulant to golf interest in this area.

Thomasetti has also expressed satisfaction at the number of new members who have joined Countryview for the year.

The rolling fairways and finely textured sand greens of the course are in top condition and, although there are already a number of early bird golfers playing, the links will be seeing more and more activity as the season progresses.

—O—

Points of speculation have been tossed about in recent months as to whether Ben Hogan, one of the all-time greats of golfdom, will choose to compete in the United States Open tournament again this year. To date the mighty mite from Texas has made no conclusive commitments on the question, keeping the touring professionals, and golf writers alike, guessing.

Following the surprising upset administered him by darkhorse Jack Fleck in the playoff for the National Open title last year, Hogan announced he was retiring from serious tournament competition to devote his time to the manufacture of golf clubs. Along with that announcement he indicated he had no plans for making another bid for the U. S. Open championship.

But what would the National Open be without Hogan in the race? And who can visualize him playing in any tournament without taking it seriously? These have been among the prime questions considered by many who feel certain the "Bantam Ben" will be on the entry list when the Open rolls around this spring.

I firmly believe Hogan will be a serious contender in the tourney and, if he does play, will be favored to win. A prevalent factor which has convinced me he will again be in the running this year is that he is still seeking his fifth U. S. Open crown, a feat unequaled by any golfer in the history of the tournament. Hogan is the holder of the four Open championships of 1948, '50, '51 and '53. Two others, Bobby Jones and Willie Anderson, also hold the distinction of winning the affair four times each. A fifth Open victory for the Texan would set a record which would undoubtedly stand unthreatened for many years in the annals of golf.

The Athletics also will play the Redlegs in Cincinnati on an open date July 5.

CEMO Grows To An Eight Team Circuit

The Central Missouri Conference is being enlarged to eight teams in accordance with the selection of Moberly and Fulton as new members of the circuit. The two schools were elected to the conference at a meeting held in Columbia, Saturday.

Missouri Military Academy, Mexico, withdrew from Conference last fall effective with the 1956-57 school term and the Mexico High School, one of the stronger teams of the NEMO was elected to replace M.M.A.

The Conference will now be composed of Smith-Cotton, Sedalia, Hickman of Columbia, Hannibal, Jefferson City, Kemper M. A., of Boonville, five original members, along with Mexico High Schools.

The circuit will probably not begin operating on the eight team circuit until the spring of 1957 at the Conference track meet, as most schools have two year athletic contracts with other schools which will not expire until that time.

The election of officers was also held at which time Coach Jim Gibbs, Jefferson City, was elevated to the presidency succeeding Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow of Smith-Cotton, Sedalia.

Other officers elected were W. C. McCellan, athletic director at Jefferson City, secretary-treasurer, and Col. John Kravolec, Kemper, M. A., Boonville, elected vice-president to succeed Coach Gibbs.

The Conference accepted the invitation of Kemper to hold the CEMO spring track and field meet at Boonville, on Tuesday May 8. The preliminaries will start at 2:30 p. m. and the finals at 7:30 p.m.

The golf and tennis meets will also be held at Kemper at this time.

The selection of the All-Conference basketball team was held during the afternoon session and Charles "Van" Van Dyne was unanimously elected to the first team. By virtue of this election he was named the Captain.

Walt Kennon was elected to the second team. Two other Sedalia players received votes for the conference team, Rudd Van Dyne and Charles Newman.

Basilio, Saxton In Welter Title Bout Wednesday

CHICAGO, March 10 (AP)—Durable Carmen Basilio makes the second defense of his welterweight boxing championship Wednesday, taking on a determined former champ, Johnny Saxton, in Chicago Stadium.

The scheduled 15-rounder, broadcast and televised nationally by ABC starting at 10 p. m. CST with Chicago and a 150 mile radius blacked out, should be a good payday for each fighter.

The International Boxing Club looks for a crowd of about 10,000 contributing to a gate of $75,000. TV-radio proceeds will amount to $50,000. The split of the net for the contestants is 30-30 instead of the usual 40-20 ratio favoring the champion.

Sacred Heart Grade School Wins PBCAA Volleyball Tourney

Sacred Heart grade school captured the Pettis-Benton County Athletic Assn. Conference grade school volleyball championship with a 38-28 victory over Hughesville in the tournament finals at LaMonte Friday night.

The volleyball-basketball tourney saw the Sacred Heart grade school basketball squad lose their first game to Warsaw, 25-40, however. Warsaw went on to win the basketball title by defeating Lincoln, 29-20, Friday night.

Hubbard grade school of Sedalia took third place in basketball and LaMonte finished third in the volleyball bracket.

Friday night's triumph was the first time Sacred Heart had won the volleyball crown. In their first game the locals downed Warsaw 28-27; edged LaMonte 30-28 in their second game; and rallied remarkably Friday night to overcome a 4-20 deficit and win the contest from Hughesville by ten points.

Betsy Rawls Takes Women's Tourney Lead

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10—(AP)—Blonde Betsy Rawls, 27-year-old professional from Spartanburg, S. C., matched men's par with a 72 today to take a two-stroke lead over Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., after thre rounds of the $5,000 Titleholders golf championship.

Miss Rawls, two-time National Open champion but never winner of this tournament, goes into tomorrow's final round with a 79-75-72—226.

Miss Suggs, who has been Titleholders champion twice, has a 78-75-75—228.

Back of the leaders in third place and well within striking distance was Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill. The flame-haired defending champion, shooting for her seventh Titleholders crown, shot a 78 on the rugged 6,270-yard Augusta Country Club course today. She has a 54 hole total of 229. Miss Rawls, who set a new nine hole Titleholders record with a 32 yesterday, covered the front side in 37 today. She started clicking with her putter after the turn and wound up with three back side birdies and a 35.

Miss Suggs, who held the second round lead, one stroke ahead of Miss Rawls and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., was out in 38 and back in 39.

'56 DODGE Coronet
it's your King Size Buy!

Luxurious new '56 DODGE CORONET is bigger by far than other medium-priced cars! Bigger in size, comfort, performance, style! Yet it is priced right down with the lowest-priced cars. A big Dodge Coronet V-8 Lancer hardtop costs only 95 cents a week more than "hardtops" in the small-car field!

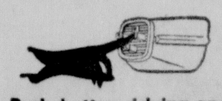
| Size it up with others in the medium price field | |
|---|---|
| Car "B" | Dodge is 6.9 inches longer |
| Car "M" | Dodge is 5.6 inches longer |
| Car "O" | Dodge is 7.7 inches longer |
| Car "P" | Dodge is 6.4 inches longer |

| Price it against small cars in the "low price field" | |
|---|---|
| Car "C" | Dodge is 14.5 inches longer |
| Car "F" | Dodge is 13.5 inches longer |

More legroom front and rear! More hiproom front and rear! Wider doors! Greater steering wheel clearance! More rear deck space! New '56 Dodge is bigger inside and out! Looks bigger! Rides bigger! Is bigger!

Yet Dodge costs only $4.11 a month more (less than 95 cents a week!)*

Why settle for a small car, when a new '56 Dodge Coronet brings you so much more for so little more! Here's big-car ride and roominess, big-car luxury and looks in a full line of King Size Coronets, priced right down with the small cars!



Push-button driving and record-breaking performance!

At a touch of your finger, you command the greatest performing car on the road today—bar none! The new '56 Dodge shattered every record in the book—including world records held by expensive foreign models—in its sensational 14-day official run on the Bonneville Salt Flats. The '56 Dodge V-8 holds more performance records than all other American cars combined.

*Comparing price of Dodge Coronet V-8 Lancer against average price of same body style of the "low price 3." Price difference based on 24-month financing after ⅓ down payment.

Specialists Assist With Sheep Meeting

Two sheep specialists assisted local extension agents with a sheep meeting Monday night. They were William Pugh, extension livestock specialist from the University, and Glenn Thacker, from the Midwest Wool Marketing Cooperative at Kansas City. The meeting was in the Fifth Street Methodist Church basement.

County Agent Merle Vaughan first—introduced Pugh. Bill, who speaks quite bluntly, started out by saying that farm folks in general hate to admit that sheep raising might be a good place to make some money. They are an excellent way to sell grass, they give the best returns per dollar investment, they produce two crops, lambs and wool, and the wool check comes in at a time when it can really be used.

"Keep enough ewes to make it worthwhile," Bill said. And suggested a one or two ram flock which would be 35 or 70 ewes. He quoted some figures from farm records that varied from 18 to 30 dollars gross return per ewe or an average of 25 dollars.

Figuring feed and pasture they usually compare one cow to six ewes. Six ewes at that rate would gross $150. It would take a 500-pound calf selling at 30 cents or a 750-pound yearling selling at 20 cents to equal it.

Pugh said an 85-pound lamb sold in June would bring as much as a 100-pound one sold in October and the ewes would be in better shape for early breeding. He recommended western ewes bred to mutton type rams for these early lambs. "Sell all the lambs," he said, "as a fat ewe lamb will bring as much as a yearling western would cost. These western ewes are also the best for a 4-H or FFA project," he added. He recommended creep feeding these early lambs and to continue it after they went on grass. Straight shelled corn was recommended after the lambs were on feed. A mineral mixture of bone meal and salt was recommended for the entire flock.

Pugh mentioned that much greater losses were suffered from internal parasites as stomach worms than from varmints. He recommended a fall and spring drench with liquid phenothiazine and then feeding the phenothiazine—salt mixture through the summer. It is mixed at the rate of one part phenothiazine to ten parts salt, should be kept fresh and should be in a trough protected from the weather.

Watch should be kept as frequently it is necessary to drench one or more times during the summer months. If tape worms are present in quantity the lead arsenate treatment can be used.

Another good practice he recommended was "tagging" them so the lambs could suck better.

Thacker, of Midwest, said the market would be about the same as 1955 or a little better. "The world consumption is about in balance with the production," he said. He spent much of his time explaining about the incentive payment.

The marketing date ends March 31 but applications for the incentive payment can be made up to April 30. He expected the actual payments to be received about July.

Now then as to how the incentive payment works. It hinges on a price of 62 cents. The United States average price is expected to be around 44 cents. The difference between that and 62 cents is 18 cents. That 18 cents is about 40 per cent of the average price of 44 cents. Then if on April 30 it is found that the average price is 44 cents, each grower's incentive payment would be 40 per cent of his original check.

There is also an incentive payment on wool on lambs and yearlings. It is set at the rate of 70 cents on each hundred weight of lambs. If the animals have been sheared, they must have one and one-half inches of wool at the time of sale.

The last census figures showed the sheep and wool business amounting to about $154,000 for the 200 sheep growers at that time in Pettis County.

He Forgot His Safety Song ---For One Tragic Instant

PHILIP SMITH

Each morning in first grade the clear, sweet voices piped a simple song. "Stop, look, listen," the words went, "before you cross the street." In Burroughs school at Columbus, Ohio, it was part of learning. These children, getting out into the world for the first time, away from close home supervision, were being taught respect for the dangers of traffic. On a recent morning, the teacher suggested the children draw a picture to illustrate the song. That of bright, six-year-old Philip Smith was one of the very best. He even illustrated the words with a bird on the traffic light wire and a plane in the sunny sky. But Fate was preparing an unfathomable tragedy. Two days later Philip forgot the safety warning in the song—for one tragic instant. He darted out from between two parked cars on the way to a friend's house. The driver never saw him. Philip lay dead in the street.

His classmates still sing the little song, "Stop, look, listen," each morning. They think of Philip. At tragic cost, they have had a demonstration of the truth of these words.

Interpreting The News—

Query Whether Reds Learn From Their History Recalls

Associated Press News Analyst

The Russians are great ones for citing history, but their actions consistantly create wonderment as to whether they really learn anything from it.

In 1939 the Russians agreed to let Hitler fight a war without interference from them, in return for his promise to give them part of Poland and the Middle East when he had won.

It was a part of basic Communist policy to encourage wars between non-Communist nations in order to create conditions in which the Reds could expand. In a tactical way, this was, for them, good policy. World War II gave them the opportunity, promptly grasped, for great expansion.

For the long pull, the policy was disastrous.

In the first place, Hitler only used Russian forbearance to prepare to attack her once he had overrun Europe. Stalin admitted to seven million battle casualties, and the actual drop in Russian population was between 20 and 25 millions. Material devastation was terrific. Only outside help saved him. His postwar efforts to make it pay resulted in alignment against Russia of a vast and by far the most powerful group of nations in the world.

Now, as the Russians take a new tack in their campaign, they are making a special drive in the Middle East to replace the Western economic partners of the Arab states.

And each offer of economic ties is accompanied by a particular "shoppers special"—the supply of arms. Yemen, which is having trouble with Britain, is the latest example.

The post-Stalin Russian regime has frequently been described as recognizing that no modern war can be profitable. Yet there seems to be no recognition that promotion of war for others will eventually turn out worse for Russia than before.

The red arms activity is being carried on even as the nations prepare for another disarmament conference in London. It prejudices the prospects from the start.

The United States has been shifting and adding to its disarmament policy in an effort to find something on which to bargain with the Russians. Premier Bulganin said there might be something in it. But now Pravada, which speaks for the Communist party and presumably for the Russian big wheel, Khrushchev, says the Western Big Three are just preparing proposals which Russia will be unable to accept. Then, it says, the Western Powers will "mount a worldwide campaign to accuse the U.S.S.R. of frustrating the cause of disarmament."

Again, Russia's actions are in complete conflict with her propaganda.

Your Wardrobe

by Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

Costumes to look monotne but not monotonous is the trend in spring fashion. It is smart to have blending shades, if not all the same shade. Take special note of this fact and practice it seriously if you are short or large, it will do wonders for you. It is so easy to be well-dressed this spring regardless of how slim your budget is, provided you plan your wardrobe carefully. New fabrics in different weaves can give you elegant looking garments in all price ranges. For instance you will find cotton tweeds that actually look like wool. Smart boxy suits fashioned from these materials are a favorite as they can be worn from now until? Matching duster and dress ensembles are quite an asset to your wardrobe. If carefully selected you can acquire several outfits by using the duster with other dresses. Since Easter is so early this year you will get several extra weeks of wear from your coats and suits.

Did You Ever Try This?

by Mildred Bowman

The secret in choosing wallpapers is to first decide on the effect you want to achieve. The special magic about wallpaper is the way in which it is used.

Select textured papers if you like the look of natural materials to add warmth and richness.

On the other hand if you want the wallpaper to be the dominant pattern in your room and add a distinctive note, choose a dramatic pattern. Above all things — avoid common place patterns with wishy-washy "safe" colors.

Sorosis Members To Hear Talk By Mrs. I. Boldin

Mrs. Isabelle Boldin, chairman of the fashion design department, of the Kansas City Art Institute, will be the speaker at Sorosis Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Boldin is a graduate of the University of Missouri, but although she was interested in designing and making clothes from childhood, she did not study fashion designing. Her knowledge in the art was acquired later through experience. For seven years she was design and production superintendent in the Maguerite Frocks, manufacturers of custom children and junior clothes and for nine years she was manager of the pattern department of the Gernes Garment Co., manufacturers of Gay Gibson dresses. After that she opened and owned a custom design studio of Marguerite Gowns of Distinction. She has taught fashion design and clothing construction at the Kansas City Art Institute School of Design for the past 11 years and still does a great deal of free lance designing for manufacturers in and around Kansas City.

Miss Gayle Kenerson, a student, will accompany Mrs. Boldin to Sedalia and will model several garments that she herself has designed and made in the class. Mrs. Boldin will bring sketches on a board and will take material and make on a form a garment from the drawing to show how clothes are designed.

Also, Mrs. Boldin will tell what happens to young designers from childhood to fame, what happens in the dress business from the designing of the garment to the delivery to the customer.

The speaker will be introduced by Mrs. W. B. Rich, Art and Drama chairman.

Randolph Scott, the marshal of Medicine Bend, cleans up the West's toughest two-gun town in the Technicolor production 'Lawless Street," now playing at the Uptown Theatre The companion feature stars Gene Barry and Edward Arnold in "The Houston Story," the story of the big mob that muscles in on the big state Texas.

Irene Dunne Criticizes Movie Hours

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Irene Dunne was back before the cameras this week after too long an absence. But it was for TV, not the movies.

Miss Dunne was portraying the headmistress of a girls' school in a Screen Gems film for Ford Theater. Before she dashed off to a fitting during her lunch hour, I pinned her down on why she didn't work more often.

"Well, it's not because I don't want to, as rumor had it recently," she replied. "I'm not lazy.

"I just haven't found any pictures I wanted to do. I almost did one — 'The Swan.' But I decided it wasn't right for me.

"I manage to keep very busy. I do a lot of traveling. And I do an occasional TV show like this one to keep my hand in."

Of course, there's no pressing need for her to work, since she is one of Hollywood's most substantial citizens financially. But her light, refined touch and her mature beauty are sorely missed on the screen.

Despite her claims that she isn't lazy, Miss Dunne had some pointed comments on working conditions in the movies.

"Do you know how early I had to get up this morning?" she asked. "It was 5:30. I had to be here at the studio at 6:30.

"I really think the studios should consider making films the way they do in Europe — starting at noon and ending at 7:30 or 8 in the evening. That would not only make it easier on the actors, but the crew as well. You could get up at a decent hour and work while you still feel refreshed."

It is doubtful if the studios will soon be convinced. They feel the factory hours are more efficient, despite the early risings for the glamor girls.

If the ice on Greenland were melted, the level of the world's oceans would rise 24 or more feet.

Frank Sinetra and Kim Novak as they appear in "The Man With The Golden Arm," starting today at the Fox Theatre. A mature screen treatment of Nelson Algren's best-selling novel, the film explores a hitherto "untouchable" movie theme. Recent Academy Award nominations gave the picture three listings in the best actor, best musical scoring of a dramatic film and art direction categories. Co-Star Eleanor Parker was also nominated in the best actress grouping for this year's Oscars.

Time for Sermon?

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Miller were so wrapped up in a conversation while walking downtown that they walked past a red traffic light.

A police officer whistled them to a halt and asked what was going on.

"We were just careless," Miller admitted.

"What do I have to do?" asked the officer. "Preach you a sermon?"

Mules In The Pink

ORLEANS, Neb. (AP) — The story goes that three men took the pledge and one left town to take the cure when they saw a pair of pink mules trotting down the street. They needn't have jumped to conclusions because what they saw really was a team of pink mules.

When two gray mules worked up a sweat they were covered with red quilts. The color ran and the mules took on a pinkish hue.

Pat O'Brien Is Observing Two Jubilees

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD, March 10 (AP)—Pat O'Brien wants it known that he hasn't given up the movies "They gave me up," he declares.

This disclosure stemmed from a question as to why the public sees Pat only on television or in summer stock these days.

O'Brien, long one of Warners' top boxoffice stars, hasn't made a movie in some time. Frankly, he can't figure why.

"I know I'm the only actor in town Mike Todd hasn't asked to appear in "Around the World in 80 Days.' "

The latter is a picture that has more big names in the cast than there are days in the title.

Part of Pat's troubles in the movies may be due to type casting, or as he puts it:

"If I played one more priest, they'd have to ordain me."

But Pat is not bitter at Hollywood, as some veteran stars are.

"I look upon it this way: Hollywood gave me a wonderful life and I owe it a lot more than it owes me."

This is the 25th year in Hollywood for Pat, an overnight star in his first movie. He got that part by a fluke.

Howard Hughes sent for him to play the role of reporter Hildy Johnson in "The Front Page." When the then stage actor arrived, he found out that he had been signed because it was thought he had played Hildy on the stage. He hadn't. Pat was the managing editor in the stage version of the famed Ben Hecht-Charles Macarthur story of Chicago journalism.

He played Hildy in the movie version and clicked.

One of the scenes in that movie was shot on location at the Los Angeles County Marriage License Bureau. Pat bought a license and used it to marry actress Eloise Taylor.

The O'Briens are making this a double silver jubilee year—25 years in Hollywood and 25 years of marriage.

---

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Sinatra believes a "floor actor or actress" stands the best chance of winning the Academy Award this year.

At least five of the top nominees had big scenes where they crawled on the floor:

Eleanor Parker as the paralytic opera singer of "Interrupted Melody," Susan Hayward as the alcoholic in "I'll Cry Tomorrow," Anna Magnani as the sorrowing widow of "The Rose Tattoo," Sinatra as the addict in "Man With the Golden Arm" and the late James Dean who played floor scenes in both "East of Eden" and "Rebel Without a Cause."

Sinatra believes his race for the second Oscar will be a close one, but he thinks Dean will win it.

---

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In Ginger Rogers' next picture, she may either direct and play one sister of a singing trio or else forget about the directing and play all three sisters.

Ginger is still undecided what she will do but it looks like the direction debut will get the nod.

She admits that she has had the yen to direct for some time. "I have directed a few unofficially in my time," she says with a wink that adds: what feminine star hasn't?

She and writer Andrew Solt are working on the comedy titled "One at a Time." She will produce it herself after completing "The First Traveling Saleslady," the picture that has RKO humming again after a long shutdown.

The story concerns three sisters who have a top singing act.

"One's a trifle slap happy, one is lazy and one has most of the talent and ambition," explains Ginger.

Playing all three sisters, while difficut, wouldn't be as tough technically as it sounds.

The singing numbers would be done easily by multiple recording a la Les Paul and Mary Ford. Split screen and optical printing of the film could take care of Ginger playing a trio. She would just have to do any scene involving all three sisters three times, doing each sister in rotation. Part of the camera lens would be blocked and then all three sets of film would be printed on a single film.

Street Cars Disappear

DETROIT (AP) — The city's 183 remaining street cars have been sold to Mexico City. The sale included 150 at $4,000 each and 33 at $3,000.

Buses already have replaced streetcars on all but two of Detroit's streets and they will be converted to buses soon.

HENENA, Mont. (AP) — Montana's male land commissioner, Lou Bretzke, has been honored by having a river island named after him despite Montana custom which provides that all such lands in Montana Rivers be given a feminine name. The island was called "Lou Island."

Imperial, Mo., Girl Wins State Homemaking Contest

MISSOURI HOMEMAKER OF TOMORROW—Carole Ahlers of Notre Dame High School, St. Louis, Mo., was named Missouri's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. The Imperial, Mo., girl received the state's highest score in a written homemaking examination and will be awarded a $1,500 scholarship by General Mills. She will also receive an expense-paid trip with her school advisor April 8-12 to Washington, D. C., cononial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia. Miss Ahlers will be a candidate for the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow $5,000 scholarship award.

Missouri's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow is Carole Ahlers of Imperial.

This brown-eyed, 17-year-old girl, who attends Notre Dame High School in St. Louis, received the highest score in a written homemaking examination taken by 6,857 graduating senior girls in 326 of Missouri's schools.

She will receive a $1,500 educational scholarship to the college of her choice from General Mills, sponsor of this $100,000 homemaking scholarship program which enrolled a quarter million girls in more than 10,000 of the nation's high schools.

She and her school advisor will tour Washington, D. C., colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia April 8-12. Miss Ahlers will be a candidate for the Betty Crocker American Homemaker of Tomorrow $5,000 scholarship award which will be made at the nationally televised American Table banquet.

Receiving the second rating in Missouri was Marilyn Manley of King City High School, King City. She will be awarded a $500 scholarship as Missouri's Award of Honor winner in this homemaking project.

Miss Ahlers has not decided yet where she will use her $1,500 scholarship. "I didn't think I would be able to go to college right away," she explains, "so I planned to work and take some night school courses. Now I'll have to start making a whole new set of plans. But I'm still so thrilled I can't settle down to think about where I want to go."

Cooking and meal planning are her favorite homemaking tasks. "Carole has been doing all the homemaking in our home for the last four years," says her mother. "My husband and I run an old-fashioned general store in this rural community, so I have no time for housework myself. I don't know what I would do without Carole's help. She even cooks our Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners."

From the time she takes the school bus at 7 in the morning until she puts her six-year-old brother and four-year-old sister to bed at 9, Miss Ahlers' day is full. "Mother doesn't want me to miss out on anything, except that she believes that studying comes first. So I don't go out on school nights. But weekends are for fun — going to movies and parties, mostly."

Because she lives 16 miles from school and must depend on the school bus for transportation, Miss Ahlers is unable to participate in any extracurricular activities. However, she is active in church work, and in sports. "I'd rather swim than do anything else," she says. "Though I like to read and sew, too."

Notre Dame High School will receive a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica in recognition of Miss Ahlers' selection as Missouri Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The 48 state Homemakers of Tomorrow and the representative from the District of Columbia, with their advisors, will convene in Washington April 8. They will tour the capital before going to Williamsburg where, dressed in colonial costumes, they will become part of the homemaking scene of yesteryear.

The climax of the trip will be the American Table banquet in Philadelphia. Here one of them will be introduced to the nation as the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. The selection will be based on the original test score and interviews.

Science Research Associates designed the examination which tested the homemaking knowledge and attitudes of senior high school girls across the nation.

Gloria Hiltenburg To Have Part in Play

Gloria Hiltenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hiltenburg, Otterville, a sophomore at Friends University, Wichita, Kan., has been given the part of Sukey in "Harriet," one of the major dramatic productions of the school year which will be presented March 9 and 10.

The three act drama concerns the life of Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and the difficulties resulting from publication of her novel.

An unusual response to the invitation to all students to apply for parts resulted in four days of tryouts to fill the 26 parts.

Mrs. Hiltenburg and daughter, Virginia, will go to Wichita to attend the play and visit relatives and friends in Wichita over the weekend.

Overstreets Attend Cleaners Convention

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Overstreet and son, Bob, of the Acme Cleaners, have returned from Dallas, Tex., where they attended the 47th Annual Convention and Educational Conference of the National Institute of Drycleaning.

The conference was conducted by staff members of the Institute who gave the latest findings on drycleaning methods, new materials to expect in the future, and latest business and sales suggestions. A style show was given at the Statler-Hilton Hotel by Nieman-Marcus store of Dallas, showing the latest of their imports in formal and casual wear and included a sneak preview of four Paris models that hadn't been shown since they left Paris a week ago. All models wore hats by "Mr. John" and other exclusive hat designers.

Mr. Overstreet and Bob were introduced at the alumni meeting, being recognized as the only father and son alumni of the National Institute School of Drycleaning at Silverspring, Md., attending the meeting.

The convention was adjourned with a banquet, floor show and dance at which time the master of ceremonies was Johnny Carson of TV who, in turn, presented Martha Wright of the show "South Pacific."

Cotton Threatens to Give Uncle Sam Bigger Headache

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton threatens today to give Uncle Sam another headache in his role as a world leader.

The fiber is deep in politics in this country. It seems about to set off an international squabble if not a price war.

Uncle Sam wants to sell his surplus cotton abroad at the world price. At first glance that would seem fair enough, since this country in recent years has lost most of its once dominant position in the world market because its price became higher than the world price. The United States could get back in the market by selling at what the others get.

The rub comes in this: much of the world markets lost while U.S. cotton was being priced above world prices were won by friendly nations, and particularly by some the United States is now strenuously wooing.

Just as the American cotton farmer would be horrified if Washington announced it would dump its huge surplus of government-owned cotton on the domestic market, so these nations are protesting the proposal to offer this surplus on the world market at prices lower than those supported by government policy at home.

Uncle Sam's problem is real enough. He has stacked up in his warehouses some 11 million bales of cotton. He expects that to rise to 14 million bales by next August, the time Agriculture Secretary Benson has set for his drive to double U.S. cotton exports.

Cotton is the big drag on arm exports now. From July to January this country shipped abroad 60 per cent less cotton than in the same seven-month period in the previous fiscal year.

Benson hopes to sell five million bales abroad by lowering the price to what other nations are getting. This would be almost double what was shipped last year but still only about half what was exported in the heydey of U.S. cotton exporting history.

Other nations with cotton to sell won't welcome this five million-bale competition. Even more they'll fear the 11 or 12 million bales that could be dumped.

Right now U.S. foreign policy is entangled with the troubled Middle East. In that area cotton-exporting countries include Egypt, Pakistan, Syria and Turkey — all of whom he United States would like on its side. Mexico, Brazil and Peru also export cotton.

Rarest date for Easter is March 22, the earliest date on which it can occur. It comes on this date very infrequently. Last time it happened was in 1818 and it will not happen again until 2285.

Regional Library Notes—

Many Non-Fiction Works On All Subjects Offered

"The Easy Chair" by the late Bernard DeVoto is a collection of comments on important issues of American life taken from the column of that name in Harper's Magazine. Congressmen, Communism, corporations, conservatism—many subjects come under his pen and give us the pros and cons of his lucid thinking.

"The Open Heart" by Edward Weeks is a collection of essays garnered from his full life and reminiscences of men and books. His early boyhood in New Jersey, comments on Mark Twain, a blizzard in Boston are just a few. Beautifully written by the editor of the Atlantic Monthly, they give more of a philosophy of life than a series of biographical essays.

"America's Music from the Pilgrims to the Present" by Gilbert Chase presents the panorama of 330 years of American music from the tribal music of our Indians and the psalms of the Pilgrims, the Negro spirituals, folksongs and ballads, the rise of ragtime and blues, jazz and Broadway musicals and the symphonic and operatic music. The growth of our music against the background of the lives of the people who made it is of value as a reference book but still readable enough for the average person with a real interest in the subject.

"The Living Stage, a history of the world theater" by Kenneth Macgowan and William Melnitz is a well-written, well-illustrated history of the theater from its origins with primitive man through its dark and golden ages.

"The Sane Society" by Erich Fromm tells of the insanity of modern society. This psychoanalyst says that man's material needs are filled but his basic human need to participate, and to relate himself to others through the exercise of reason and love is denied. Totalitarianism, communism and capitalism are all offenders in different degrees.

"Government by Investigation" by Alan Barth is a thorough and objective examination of Congress use of its right to investigate. Legislative tyranny was a greater concern for the makers of our Constitution than executive tyranny. Barth shows that some recent investigations have interfered with the rights of private citizens just as was done in the Reconstruction period.

These and other notable books of 1955 are available from your Boonslick Library.

Missouri's First Native-born Republican Governor Cited

By State Historical Society of Missouri

During his administration, law and order largely prevailed after four years of war, the State debt was reduced, taxes were raised, public schools were improved, slavery was abolished, population and wealth increased, and suffrage and the practice of certain professions were restricted to Union supporters. Do you know his name?

1. Where in Missouri did he live?

A. The son of a slave-owning Maryland family that had moved to Missouri in 1816, he was born January 22, 1827, at Herculaneum in Jefferson County.

2. How did he begin his public career?

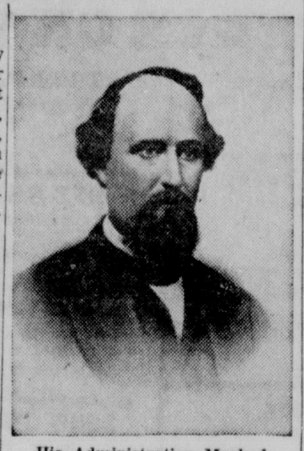
A. At the age of 22 he was elected circuit clerk of Jefferson County. He was admitted to the bar in 1856 and the next year became land agent for the Southwest Branch of the Pacific Railroad. In 1857 he and his brother-in-law, Louis J. Rankin, laid out the town of DeSoto, Missouri.

He formed an early alliance with the antislavery Republican party and was elected a delegate to the 1860 Republican National Convention at Chicago where he supported Lincoln for the presidential nomination.

3. How did he aid the Union cause during the Civil War?

A. He volunteered his services in April, 1861, and served as assistant provost marshal general with headquarters at St. Louis. In 1862 he recruited the 31st Missouri Infantry, received his commission as colonel, and was wounded and captured at Chickasaw Bayou. He organized state troops in 1864 to resist the invasion of General Price's army and was given a vote of thanks by the Missouri legislature and brevetted brigadier general by President Lincoln for his successful defense of Pilot Knob under General Ewing.

4. Nominated for governor while with Sherman on the march to the sea, his election in November, 1864, marked the beginning of the Radical Republican control of the State's politics until 1870. One of his first acts was to issue an emancipation proclamation Jan. 11, 1865, after the Radical State Convention had passed an ordinance freeing Missouri slaves. The ratification of the 1865 Drake constitution was another Radical victory and the remainder of his administration saw controversy over the more drastic provisions of the new constitution. He pursued a moderate course in filling the judicial vacancies created by the Ousting Ordinance and recommended a constitutional amendment to abolish the restrictions of the "ironclad" oath of loyalty as they applied to ministers, teachers, and lawyers.



His Administration Marked Great Progress in Public Education in Missouri

5. What were his other accomplishments as governor?

A. Under his leadership, Missouri created a new and larger public school fund; reorganized and improved the public school system; made the first appropriation from the general revenune for the University of Missouri; established an immigration board; and sold railroads owned by the State through failure of the companies to pay interest on State-guaranteed bonds.

6. What did he do later?

A. Upon the conclusion of his term as governor in 1869 he practiced law in St. Louis and then in Washington D. C., where he died March 25, 1899.

7. What was his name?

A. Thomas Clement Fletcher.

Friendship Class Turns In Money For Building Fund

The Friendship Class of the Fifth Street Methodist Church met at 2 p.m. Wednesday, March 7, at which time the money for the church building fund was turned in. Mrs. Lucy Rabourn, who had asked a year ago that each member of the class save 10 cents a week for the fund, was again in charge of the program and each member turned in the $5.20 she had saved.

The program was opened with Mrs. Rabourn reading a poem, "How Rich Are You." Mrs. George Lovercamp sang "Others" and Mrs. John Perdue read a poem. Two vocal solos by Dick Shoemaker were "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Lord, Who Thought These Forty Days" with Janice White as accompanist. A humorous reading was given by Mrs. Emery Meyers, "Ma's Trip to Town."

Mrs. Rabourn then presented each member of the class with a little remembrance of the occasion, and the meeting closed with Mrs. Perdue repeating her favorite prayer, "I Think That God Is Proud."

During the social hour refreshments were served.

4-H Means Fine Citizens

The 4-H Pledge

I PLEDGE

My Head to Clear Thinking,
My Heart to Greater Loyalty,
My Hands to Larger Service,
and
My Health to Better Living,
For My Club,
My Community,
And My Country

CONFIDENCE — Barry Ellis, Longwood 4-H Club, learns self-confidence at the same time he presents a demonstration on proper lighting.

INGENUITY — Linda Turner, Maplewood 4-H Club, is encouraged to display ingenuity in several projects adding attractiveness to the home.

ACHIEVEMENT—Barry Ellis takes pride in his success at raising "Jerry", an Angus steer, as part of his livestock project last year.

COOPERATION — Harold Vannoy, right, president of the Smelser 4-H Club, and his fellow members get together on program planning.

KNOW-HOW — Christine Silsby, Georgetown 4-H Club, at left, tells other members about adjusting the carburetor of the tractor behind her.

The 4-H Creed Is Applied This Way . . .

4-H Club work becomes part of the lives of rural young people while their minds are still plastic; gives them guidance when they need it; teaches them some of the inspiring things in agriculture and farm home life and gives them a vision of its possibilities as a life work.

4-H Club work demonstrates the best practices in agriculture and home economics to entire communities and counties by means of the original projects carried by the members, by their exhibits, their achievement days, their expositions, and their public demonstrations.

4-H Club work develops rural leadership, community pride and spirit. It builds young men and women who know how to conduct meetings, organize community projects, and who are trained to judge crops, livestock, and products of the farm and home.

4-H Club work emphasizes the home —as that is the place where the project is usually carried out — and brings parents and children increasingly together in a common interest.

4-H Club work develops self-reliance, ambition, and aggressiveness. It applies business methods to farming and promotes industry and thrift. It fosters individual ownership, a love of nature and the open country. It brings out the best effort and thought and gives rural boys and girls an opportunity to earn money and acquire property.

4-H Club work shows boys and girls how to do the wholesome, helpful things and to play the game fairly.

Above all, it develops the highest type of manhood, womanhood and American citizenship.

To Read About 4-H Clubs in Action, Just Turn the Page

Scope of 4-H Organizations Is Defined

WHAT ARE THEY? The 4-H clubs are organized groups of young people who carry on farming and homemaking projects under the guidance of agricultural extension workers, local volunteer leaders and parents.

4-H club work is a part of the cooperative extension work in agriculture and home making in which the United States Department of Agriculture, the University of Missouri and the counties participate.

WHO CAN BELONG? Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 years who agrees to "learn to do by doing" may belong.

WHAT DO THEY DO? Members carry on project work, exhibit and judge their products, and demonstrate the methods they have learned.

The group elects its own officers, plans and conducts programs, holds regular meetings, improves health habits and takes part in community activities.

WHAT ARE THE PROJECTS? The projects include raising livestock, poultry, crops, vegetables and fruit, conserving the soil and doing agricultural engineering and handicraft, preparing and preserving food, selecting and making clothes and furnishings for the home, doing home work, and improving the home grounds.

WHAT ARE THE ACTIVITIES? The activities include everyday courtesies, grooming, safety, posture, first aid, marketing, and conservation of wildlife.

WHY HAVE A 4-H CLUB? 4-H clubs give boys and girls many opportunities. They help improve farming and rural living, make community life more satisfying and prepare young people for sharing in community activities. Clubs also provide an opportunity for closer comradeship between parents and children.

FOR MORE ABOUT THE 4-H CLUBS. See a local 4-H club leader or your county extension agent.

Success of Sheep Projects Depends on Ewes Selected

A good beginning in any project tends to make for a good ending. This is especially true in 4-H sheep projects. Since much of the success with a ewe and lamb project depends upon kind of ewes selected, the way they are managed before breeding, kind of ram used, and how ewes are cared for before lambing. August is the time to start sheep projects for the following year.

Briefly, requirements for a 4-H ewe and lamb project are for the club member to own, feed and care for three or more ewes from near breeding time until the lambs weigh about 80 pounds. Many Missouri 4-H club boys and girls have started with three to five ewes and have added to them until they have developed a practical size farm flock.

Boys and girls may start with any age ewes but it is important that they secure the kind of ewe that will produce a good lamb when bred to a good mutton type ram. Generally, club members start with yearling or two year old ewes but at times older ewes of good type can be purchased enough cheaper to make them practical for one or two lamb crops. Purebred or registered ewes are not required. In fact, good grade ewes may be more practical for producing market lambs. In either case, a purebred or registered ram selected for its mutton and wool qualities is always recommended and will make profits over the ordinary grade ram.

Experience has shown that good western ewes bred to registered mutton rams have been very successful in producing choice market lambs. Although native ewes are used by many club members, western ewes do have some advantage.

Club members and commercial flock owners like western ewes because:

1. They are generally more uniform in age, size, and type.
2. They carry fewer parasites than native ewes in most cases.
3. They usually breed more uniformly and herefore they produce more lambs ready for market at a given time.
4. They generally shear more wool that sells at a higher price than wool from native ewes.

The biggest disadvantage of western ewes is that initial cost is usually greater than for native ewes. They also may be harder to secure in small numbers unless purchased cooperatively on a club or county basis and then divided into lots.

In past years, many carloads of selected ewes have been purchased cooperatively and made available to Missouri club members. Usually, the ewes are shipped into the counties in July or early August, put on pasture and bred to registered rams in one group, and then distributed to the club members as bred ewes in October or early November. County agents working with local committees in many counties are taking orders for western ewes in order that they can be purchased now when western ranchers are selling.

Five hundred sixty-seven 4-H members were enrolled in 996 4-H projects in 1955.

Bunker Hill 4-H Club Is Gold Seal Winner

By Mrs. Clarence Schlesselman

The Bunker Hill 4-H Club was organized in 1939 and now have seven members. Our club has a meeting each Friday of the month

This year we were Gold Seal Winners but hope to do a little better to be a blue ribbon winner next year.

For our projects this year we are taking Cooking, Food Preservation, Clothing, Electricity, Turkeys, Sheep, Woodwork and Tractor Maintenance. Two of the boys are taking Junior Leadership.

Last year we had Community Improvement for our supplementary activity. The girls and leaders painted mailboxes, while the boys cut brush along the roads.

We had an Achievement Program almost every year and all took part in the Rural Life Sunday Program.

There is always the Picnic everyone enjoys.

Last summer we had the "Home Coming" of the 4-H Club at the Liberty Park and all the former members and their families were invited.

Blue Ribbons Help Increase 4-H Interest

Caroline Staley—Striped College 4-H

When I first joined 4-H as a Junior Member I didn't have much to do and so was very little interseted in my club work.

But when my second year came and I took two projects and was a regular member I began to realize in a small way, just how wonderful 4-H is. And of course, it became much more interesting when I won Blue Ribbons on my work and even received $1.20 from the State Fair.

By my third year I began to take an active part in 4-H although I only took one project. I would speak at our monthly meetings and even expressed my own ideas on some things. I was again rewarded for my efforts by receiving 75 cents from the State Fair.

My fourth year I felt like I knew all the "ropes" there is in 4-H. May I say that was the worst misunderstanding I have had yet in my life.

CURRENT-LY CORRALED—Charging bulls get a charge out of this fence at Springfield, Mo., but after a few shocks they learn to keep their distance, as this one is doing. The fence surrounds stalls of studs at the Missouri Farmers Association's dairy breeding barn. The bulls are used in an artificial insemination pool, which allows farmers to breed their cows with some of the nation's finest animals without the hazard of keeping a dangerous bull on the farm.

I was on committees and helped plan meetings, took part in many things in 4-H and again was rewarded by a check for 60 cents from the State Fair.

By this time I have many Blue, Red and White Ribbons, and even though I did not always receive a Blue Ribbon, there was still a pride in getting a ribbon for my memory book.

Last year I really began thinking about 4-H in my county, my State and my Country. I think I realized then that there were many opportunities in 4-H for me, and that I should start working toward some goal as a 4-H'er. I decided I would work toward a scholarship at the University of Missouri, major in Home Econmics and become a County Home Agent. After I set my goal, I found it easy to work hard on my project and school lessons too.

Last year I won 8 Blue Ribbons at the County Achievement Day and once more received $2.00 from the State Fair. I had made up my mind that now I was on my way.

This year I was council representative for my club, and was game leader at the council, and also on executive committee for our county council.

I was a delegate from our county to State Club Week and Pettis County's Health representative to Health Camp. I redecorated my room in the Sear's Foundation Home Improvement Project. I gave reports to extension clubs on my camping experiences and also reported to my local club, community club and in the county.

I would like to explain about the money I received from the State Fair. Every year I have exhibited I have had at least one article to go to the State Fair. And the money I got from the State Fair Blue Ribbons seems to be a repayment for my labor for that year. In my six years of club work I have exhibited five times and my articles have received five Blue Ribbons.

I would like to say that I am very thankful I am an American and have an opportunity to plan my life myself. There is only one sentence that can express my whole idea. That is, "It Could Only Happen In America".

Dances to Bankruptcy

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — In a bankruptcy petition filed in federal court by Paul G. King, he listed his biggest liability as $1,368 owed for dancing lessons to a school of dancing. He incurred his dancing debt sometime in 1953.

4-H Steer Feeding Project Can Be Profitable Work

The gate is wide open for profit in the 4-H steer feeding project. It is not unusual for boys to get a return of $50 to $75 a head over original cost and feed costs in these feeding projects. They start with five big calves or short yearlings in October or November and carry the enterprise for 12 to 14 months. Pasture and roughage are utilized to the maximum while a minimum amount of grain is used. They try to produce a carcass that will grade high — good to choice.

Occasionally a boy can pick up five good animals for this project on his own. Generally, it is more practical to pool the orders of five or more boys and authorize someone to make a purchase of an entire lot and then divide the calves among those concerned. The pooling of orders and authorization of purchasers should be done very soon.

The management of feeder calf sales are usually very cooperative in shaping up lots of calves that will serve this 4-H purpose. All of the livestock markets are ready to cooperate in the procurement of good feeder calves.

This type of project is not shown at fairs. However, the St. Joseph market has had a special marketing day for these cattle for several years. Both 4-H and F.F.A. boys participate in this event. It is safe to assume both St. Louis and Kansas City markets will cooperate in setting up marketing days when there is a sufficient number of calves available for such an event.

Naturally, boys are reluctant to invest the amount of money that is required to start a five steer project. The investment can run from $500 to $625. That's a lot of money but it's better than investing $250 in a single feeder calf hoping to hit the jackpot in a big show. As for financing, many bankers are willing to lend the full cost of five feeder calves. If they have confidence that the calves will be in competent hands.

Livestock project leaders should give this project some consideration. If it appears to be appropriate to their community, it is quite proper for them to take the initial step to get some boys started in it. Livestock boys who are junior leaders could do a fine bit of leadership by setting up a project group in his home club or an adjoining club.

Mail Goes Through

BROWNSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Automobile accidents don't stop Grover Johnson from making rounds on his rural mail route. But they do slow him down a bit.

Johnson got out to look at a tire and an opened door knocked him to the ground when the car rolled backward. He was pinned under a wheel. A woman passing by jacked up the car enough for him to squirm free. He rested a few minutes, then proceeded on his route.

Johnson got his wife to drive for him the next trip. Then the car overturned on the highway. Passersby helped the two put the car back on its wheels.

The Johnsons got back into the car, discovered it would run, and delivered the rest of the mail.

Some Projects Compatible, Others Tend to Conflict

Virginia Lee Grimes
Beaman Arator 4-H

I don't think I could ever express my appreciation for 4-H. I have learned many, many lessons and have gotten much joy and pleasure out of my work. But I shall try to list a few of my joys and disappointments.

My main interest in 4-H all along has been my Dairy Project But I have really had my ups and downs. I got my start when my Father gave me a black Angus calf, which I had claimed since it was a calf. The calf's mother was always very gentle. I can well remember when my cousin and I would go to my grandmothers. We would always milk her. He would get on one side of the cow and I would get on the other. This was when I was about three years old. So, you see my 4-H start really had an early beginning. I sold the little calf for $44, the first money I had of my own. I was about 7 at the time. This money and money I borrowed from my brother was used to buy my calf for a Dairy Project. I paid him back by giving him a calf when mine freshened.

My Dairy Project has been the root of the other projects. Especially my clothing project. As I earn my money I buy all my own materials. My first article to ever sew was a doll skirt and blouse. This was when I was about seven. Since I have been in 4-H I have been making nearly all my clothes. I realize I am saving money. I have received 31 blue and two red ribbons in the four years that I have carried this project. I have received nearly enough money by making my own. When I was in the second year, I was alternate in the younger girls' class to district Dress Revue.

Another project I have carried is Cooking. I never was a very good hand at this and never won any outstanding awards. But I am practicing what I learned.

I also took the Home Furnishing Project one year. I made some very worthwhile things, which I have been using in my room. One of the things I did in this project was to design and make a vanity and stool skirt. I bought 20 yards of light green plastic and put it over the old skirt. The plastic is clear enough that the pink shows through—that is the underskirt that was already on it. I used another piece of the plastic and made a flounce for the top of the skirt and stool. These are tied in place with pink ribbons Then I built a wardrobe frame half way across my room, which I made a curtain for in the same fashion, using 40 yards. On the top I placed a green planter box. I also added flounces to my curtains. The curtains are white, and I purchased new white window shades. I then varnished the floor and purchased three shag rugs. I also bought two new mirrors, one to use on my vanity and another above my chest of drawers. I have a room which I am very proud of now.

Our club project for four years has been Wildlife Conservation. I have an interest for outside life and have enjoyed working with the other members of my club on this project. We have been building brush shelter, planting seeds, and are working on a blue-bird trail. Last year I helped construct 15 houses. Which we painted red and white. I also helped make and paint 15 signs. We are going to add more houses in the future.

A project that our county is beginning to work on is Safety. I have volunteered to do all I can to promote this activity in our county. At the next 4-H Council meeting I am going to lead a discussion on the matter. I think that next year the junior leaders of the county will be leading this project. In this we would make a house to house check looking for defects in electric wiring and other fire hazards. We feel this will be a worthwhile and money saving project. We would be trained in this activity by some one that has been working in the field.

This year for the first time I attended a 4-H camp. It was the Jr. Leadership Camp. I am realizing more every day that I really learned a lot at this camp. I really enjoy meeting the boys and girls from other counties. The two delegates from Pettis County were both girls. We had our transportation fee paid by the Sedalia Kiwanis Club. In return for their help we gave a talk for them at one of their meetings. We are very thankful to them for their interest in 4-H work. I have been Junior Leader of the Dairy Project for two years now. I have helped younger members with records, worked for new members, lead discussions, and have assisted with and given demonstrations.

I think I could go on and on telling of the many 4-H experiences I have had, but every thing must end.

I do know that 4-H is the most worthwhile organization I could belong to.

State Achievement Day at Columbia was attended by five Pettis County 4-H members. These members received four blue ribbons and one red ribbon.

Glenda Rhoads, Quisenberry 4-H was adjudged state winner in home improvement and received an expense paid trip to the National Club Congress.

4-H Projects Require Effort To Win Honors

Shirley Tegtmeyer
Oak Point 4-H

My first big lesson that I have just learned is what 4-H really is.

I began to realize this when I went to the Tenth Annual 4-H Club week, June 8-11, 1955. I noticed that the 4-H'ers participating in events like that, had worked for what they had achieved. At that time I decided to work a little harder on my projects so I might win some honors or awards someday. But this was not easy for me to go about, because I didn't know what to start on first. I had four projects last year, Sow and Litter, Food Preparation, Home Furnishings and Clothing.

In our Food Preparation meetings we always judged a great deal. So when I won second highest on Food Preparation judging at county I was not too surprised, but as a team we won first at district. We were really thrilled because that meant we would go to State at Columbia, Mo.

We judged at State after studying hard. And we placed third as a team and I scored as the second highest individual. Although we did not win first, we learned a lot.

But I am going to try harder this year.

4-H Club work has been a part of our family since my older sister started about eleven years ago. It has been a part of our work and part of our pleasure as a family.

We never became tired of the meetings once a month because the discussions were different each time, and always something different to learn.

The three men were wounded and captured. After it was all over all agreed Howard got two of the burglars with one shot. A bullet passed through the shoulder of one and struck another in the same place. The Urnesses were unscathed and the yeggs were not badly hurt.

New 4-H Small Grain Project Is Announced

By ROBERT CLOUGH
MU Extension State Club Agent

A new 4-H project for 1956 has been announced. The title of the project is Small Grains, Legumes and Grasses. It replaces a project called Pure Seed Production. This crops project includes pure seed production and also includes commercial production and forage and roughage production.

A new 4-H Circular, No. 134, covers this project. It was prepared by William Murphy, extension field crops specialist. It has only four pages but covers 16 kinds of plantings.

Any 4-H'er wanting to grow any of the small grains, any legumes other than soybeans, any of the grasses, or a pasture mixture as a project would enroll in SGLG.

Circular 134 gives the requirements in terms of acres, time of seeding, recommended varieties, seedbed preparation, soil treatment, and other essential practices. References are made to other college publications for more information.

We would like to have a lot of boys grow alfalfa as a 4-H project. This is particularly true on farms where alfalfa is not now grown. Few crops give the satisfaction or profit to the grower as a field of good alfalfa.

We highly commend to our livestock and dairy project boys that they carry a forage crop as a companion project. This brings in sweet clover, ladino, brome, lespedeza, sudan, and pasture mixtures—all of which are in the list of 16 crops treated in the Small Grains, Legumes, and Grasses circular.

The adding of a companion project to a livestock or dairy project need not call for additional project leaders nor additional project meetings. Separate records would be kept but the projects could be tied together so that one leader might well handle both.

The dairy project member who carries a companion project of Sudan will be interested in the number of days his sudan supported the cows.

The beef project member who has a pasture mixture, lespedza, ladino, sweet clover or a brome—alfalfa companion project will be interested in the yield of forage in terms of pounds of beef.

Pigs and pasture are a wonderful combination. It saves grain and makes for better sanitation.

Let's not overlook the value of small grain pasture in fall and spring for 4-H ewe flocks. It will make a difference in the percentage of choice to prime lambs.

So at this time when profit margins are narrow, let's encourage boys to keep on with their livestock and dairy projects and help them to make more money in bad times than the indifferent operator made in good times.

Useful Experiences Are Received in 4-H Club Project Work

We believe that 4-H boys and girls learn to do many useful practices in their project work. It is in keeping with the 4-H spirit to want to share these worthwhile things with the entire community and county. The demonstration is a way of sharing good things with orders.

In so doing they acquire poise and self confidence before an audience. Moreover, they acquire a teaching technique that will be useful to them all of their lives.

Practices are taught better by demonstration. It is the most effective method of teaching someone how to do something. While many people look upon demonstrating as something hard to do, it isn't. All of us demonstrate as we go about daily tasks unless we live in solitary confinement. It is so much easier to teach someone how to mix a batch of dough or ear notch a hog by actually doing it with necessary explanations, than to attempt to teach the operation with telling and diagrams.

The test of effective demonstration is this—"If the learner hasn't learned, the teacher hasn't taught." taught."

4-H Club Program Includes Two Main Categories of Work

The 4-H Club program includes two main lines of work. The first is the foundation of the work, the farm and home projects. The second group includes the general activities such as health, safety, marketing, wildlife conservation and others.

Some project in the first group is required for enrollment as a 4-H member and includes the keeping of complete records. Participation in the second group of activities is more or less voluntary. Though without a definite outline of requirements, the broad purpose of general activities is to enrich the 4-H program. The project is the foundation of 4-H work, but these general activities add life and interest. Thus they are important to every 4-H member.

Pettis County's Best Crop Is Its Children

Pettis County grows a lot of good crops. Among them are corn, soybeans, wheat, and a whole host of others. But we don't think that these compare in any measure to the crop of fine, upstanding youngsters who are maturing each season and taking their place in the field of agriculture and industry.

In the rural areas this crop is pretty well seen in the 4-H clubs scattered throughout Pettis County. These young men and women are receiving the training in this organization which will fit them to be the farm and community leaders of our nation in just a few years. We read with pride, as the mothers, fathers, and relatives do when one of these young men and women receive a new honor. These 4-H members deserve a salute for the honors they bring themselves and their county.

But others also deserve a salute for these youngster's accomplishments. The adult leaders and the business men who encourage and supervise the various farm youth programs should be praised.

The community leaders and the project leaders in the 4-H clubs of the county give freely of their own time and money in promoting 4-H work. They consider it a wise investment and surely it is for their own sons and daughters who are the ones who benefit most from the training.

Though the phrase has been used an untold number of times, it still is an unrockable quotation — "The best crop grown in Pettis County is our youngsters."

4-H Members Receive Valuable Training In Judging Activity

Through Judging 4-H members learn to recognize good products, make close observations, select wisely, be a good loser and improve their work.

Judging is merely making a decision with reasons why. It is against the less important and arriving at a sound decision.

In 4-H work judging is used by the leaders to teach what good products are, to measure quality products and to create interest. You don't inherit good judgment. It comes as a result of training and experiences. Everyday you make decisions. Every experience which helps you make wise decisions enriches your life. Good judgment is based on proper information and ability to make decisions. Judging is an art not a science.

The 4-H motto is "To make the best better." How can we know what is best? We have to learn standards and develop the ability to make decisions.

Lamine 4-H Club Has More Than Doubled in Size

The Lamine Club was organized at Lamine School house on May 6, 1944, by Miss Dorothy Bacon, the Pettis County Home Agent.

There were eight active members, and one associate member. Mrs. H. J. Johnston was the community leader.

Several names were suggested for the club. The members chose the "Lamine Go-Getters." That is the name the club goes by now.

The club started out with two projects, Gardening and Clothing I. After the first year, the club started progressing until it was a blue ribbon club. In these awards we have won five blue ribbbons. Besides being a blue ribbon club we have received awards in gardening, safety, and several Dress Revue pins.

Helen Rugen went to the state in garden judging and went to the district with a Food Preparation demonstration.

Sharon Johnston was in the club long enough to get her 11th year pin. She also received a trip to Kansas City to the American Royal.

At the present time we have 18 active members. We are taking six projects: Clothing, Mrs. Logan Seigel; Livestock, J. W. Raines; Home Grounds, Mrs. John Closser; Woodwork, Albert Arnold; Gardening, Mrs. Albert Arnold; Home Furnishings, Mrs. Harold Rugen. As our extra project we are taking Community Service.

Mrs. Joe Arnold, Jr., is the community leader. Mrs. Frank McMullin is the assistant leader.

The 4-H Chamber of Commerce Picnic was attended by approximately 1500 people, providing an opportunity for rural and urban people to become better acquainted.

4-H's Health, Heart, Head and Hands---

The 4-H Pledge Plays Important Part In the Projects and Work of Members

Eileen Bahner Kitzmiller
Striped College 4-H

Health, Heart, Head and Hands, the 4-H's have played an important role in my 4-H story. Starting with the very first year I became a 4-H member. That was in 1947 and it seems like a long time ago. I didn't quite understand then what the 4-H pledge stood for and why everyone seemed to think it was so important. I think in the past eight years I have learned to understand better.

In eight years I have completed 25 projects. Clothing, Food Preparation, Home Furnishing, Home Service, Tractor Maintenance, and Junior Leadership.

I remember the very first thing I made in Clothing. It was an apron and was I ever proud of it. The sewing wasn't good and I only got a White Ribbon at County Achievement Day, but it was my first ribbon, and I was proud of it. Mother said my apron looked beautiful, and that I should try harder next year.

Sometimes during those first years when I was learning to sew and had to take out stitches and do them over and over again I thought it just wasn't worth learning the 4-H way. I've found out since how much nicer things look and how much better they wear when you do them the right way.

I didn't dream then that some day I would exhibit a Blue Ribbon Wool Dress at the State Fair, and that I would be capable of making suits and coats, that look as well as those bought in the store Another thing that happened that I won't forget is the first year I was in Dress Revue, when the time came to award the ribbons my name wasn't called. I felt like crying but I made up my mind then that I would try harder. I got a Blue Ribbon in Dress Revue the next year, and every year since then I have won Blue Ribbons in Dress Revue.

One year I was selected to go to District Round-Up. I learned it is better to try and fail, than to fail to try.

When I took Food Preparation as one of my projects and learned to cook, the fun really started. It sure makes you feel proud when your Dad or the rest of the family say how good the cookies are, or even how good the whole meal is, and you can say "thank you for the compliment."

Mother always appreciates a day off when she can be sure that you are capable of taking care of the house and preparing the meals.

That's where my Home Service project comes in.

Home Service teaches you to do better all the little every-day jobs around a home. Dad used to sharpen all the knifes for our family, but since taking Home Service I can sharpen them, and save Dad time for more important jobs.

For the last four years, I have taken Home Furnishing as one of the projects. In the first year I made pillow slips, dresser scarfs and lunch cloths. I needed some pillow slips and a dresser scarf for my room, so I put them to use right away. Mother said I could keep the lunch cloth for future use.

Since my three older sisters and I, all took Home Furnishing as a project, we were never at a loss for ideas when the family decided to redecorate a room, and add some new furnishings.

In 1952 I was a member of the District Home Furnishing judging team.

I have taken increased responsibility in our 4-H club, by serv- two years. It makes you feel good to know that the members of your club have enough confidence in you to elect you as a junior leader. I was junior leader for the Clothing Project in 1953.

There were 19 members enrolled in the Clothing Project, I kept the records and helped the members to learn judging and demonstrating.

It was fun showing the little girls how to thread a sewing machine and how to make slipstitch.

Being a junior leader is fun if you like to work with others and take responsibility, and I felt like I was repaying my leaders in a small way for all the help and encouragement they had and still are giving me.

This year I was junior leader for the Clothing Project as well as the Food Preparation project group. Some of the girls had never measured a cup of flour before and some of them said that their mothers wouldn't let them cook at home. By the time we had completed all of our project meetings, they had taught their mothers how to measure correctly, and how to do the dishes the 4-H way.

I have attended several junior leader training meetings and they certainly helped out in teaching the club members parliamentary procedure, planning the club program for the year, leading discussion, recreation, etc.

This last summer I was selected as one of the delegates from Pettis County to attend the First Annual Junior Leaders Camp. The theme of the camp was "Working Together for World Understanding." I learned a lot of new things at camp and I got a lot of ideas there from the other junior leaders from all over the State of Missouri. Also had lots of fun.

Besides the many different projects that are available to 4-H members, there are 4-H activities. Our club has always been very active in this respect.

I have been on the health committee for the past two years. Some of the things our club has done are: held vision and hearing tests, had a dental and immunization clinic. Took a First Aid Course, made aid kits, helped members develop better health habits, put up health exhibits and posters, tested water supply, had rat control campaigns, raised funds for Polio, Cancer, and other organizations. I helped with the Chest X-ray Clinic,when it was in our county, and collected funds for the Red Cross.

This past year I demonstrated "How to Pasteurize Milk" at the County Achievement Day and was selected to go to the District Round-up. I have improved my health habits and my whole family's health habits have been improved due to the health program.

This summer I was a delegate to State Health Camp, and two of my sisters have been delegates to Health Camp. In 1951

The 4-H Pledge Plays Important Part in the Projects and Work Of Members

my sister was a delegate in Health to National Club Congress, so our family has become health conscious.

Our club has carried Wildlife, Safety, Grooming and Music Appreciation as activities. In wildlife we planted Multiflora rose bushes, made bird houses, bird feeding stations. We sowed lespedeza seed and Reeds canary grass seed.

We learned all about wildlife, and how important it is to conserve our wildlife and forests.

In safety activity we made school stop signs, put up posters on safety, conducted community survey on safety, and had plays and skits. I took Tractor Maintenance this year and learned a lot ing as junior leader, for the past about safety when working around farm machinery.

In the Grooming activity our club had a posture clinic, skits and plays on grooming, demonstrations on washing hair, polishing shoes, etc.

Most of our members entered the County Grooming Contest. In 1953 I was winner in the county contest and alternate in the District Grooming Contest.

Our club has taken Music Appreciation and we studied about famous song writers, and had a musical number at each club meeting.

In Community Improvement we cleaned the school every year, give tea towels and hot pads to the school lunch room, paint mail boxes, and clean trash from the roadsides.

I have participated in all club activities. I learned that there is more to 4-H than just project work. Activities count a lot also.

My parents, local leaders, county extension agents, and home agent have always been ready to help me and give advice.

Altogether on project exhibits, judging, and showmanship I have won 57 Blue Ribbons, 44 Red Ribbons, and 17 White Ribbons, and gained a lot of experience.

I have been a delegate to State Club Week twice and to the American Royal one time. Through 4-H I have learned better methods of doing things and new skills. I have improved my health habits and the health habits of my family.

I learned to work together with other boys and girls, to demonstrate and to judge wisely, to talk before an audience, and to take greater responsibility.

4-H has given me added confidence and poise. All these things I will need in the future.

"I pledge my Head to clearer thinking,

"My Heart to greater loyalty,

"My hands to larger service,

"And my health to better living,

"For my club, my community, and my country."

The 4-H pledge has certainly played an important part in my life and in my future. I know I could never put into 4-H as much as I have gotten out of it.

Amusement, Recreation Serve to Make Our Work Hours Profitable

Amusement and rcereation are the things that make our working hours profitable. He who carves so steadily that he has no time to sharpen his knife, works with dull tools and cannot make much headway.

The term recreation covers a large field of activities including games, sports, folk dances, hobbies and other special features. Recreation is a part of 4-H Club work as it expands the learning process through relaxation and enjoyment. Boys and girls need to learn to play together, both for the team training it gives them and for the general physical and all around body development.

For club meetings when only a few minutes may be devoted to this part of the meeting, games of various kinds are especially good.

A recreation program for club meetings should be so planned as to recognize the likes of all members. Of course this cannot be done in one meeting or two, but during the year give every member a chance to play up his or her particular interest.

Consumers Get Pay Two-Thirds Of Price Drop

About two-thirds of the decline in farm prices since the peak four years ago has been passed on to the consumer. According to L. Ratzesberger of the Illinois Canning Co., more of the decline was not passed on to the consumer in lower prices because of higher cost of wages, taxes, and transportation which raised cost of processing and distribution.

Speaking recently at a meeting of the Agricultural Advisory Committee of the Grocery Manufacturers of America being held at the University of Missouri, Ratzesberger told of changes in eating habits during the past half century. It has been estimated in recent years that Americans consumed about 220 pounds more per person annually of such foods as meats, eggs, dairy products, fruits, and vegetables than they did 50 years ago. Consumption of grain products and potatoes dropped a like amount in the same period.

Newness and convenience have been big factors in this change. The grocery manufacturer representative said at least one-third of today's grocery sales are on items that did not exist 10 years ago or were available in limited quantities. There have been tremendous increases in the sales of such items as baby foods, frozen vegetables, and frozen fruit juices. The sale of canned fruits and juices has also gone up.

Approximately 400 4-H club members and their leaders participated in 25 radio programs during the 1955 club year. These clubs have been taking advantage of this method to get 4-H club work before the public.

The first annual 4-H Alumni Awards were presented at the Recognition Program. Recipients of these awards were Paul Selken and William McCune.

Believes Every Person Should Protect Health

Eileen Bahner Kitzmiller
Striped College 4-H

Some people may wonder why I have chosen to work hardest on the Health Activity I have never had a serious illness myself, but I have always had a horror of being sick One needs only to look around you as there are cases in every neighborhood, to see all the inconvenience and unhappiness ill health causes I believe that everyone should safequard their good health because it is priceless.

The following are the things I have done in the health activity and the things our club has done in which I have participated in. Some of our members gave blood to the blood bank. I'm sure there is a great satisfaction in knowing that you have saved a life. Those of us who aren't old enough to give blood, baked cookies for the blood bank. Every member of our club keeps a health yard-stick.

We raise funds and donate to the Red Cross, polio, cancer, and Tuberculosis Association. We make dolls, diapers, etc. for Mercy Hospital for crippled children.

One of the things we did that was a lot of fun was serving a well balanced meal to members, leaders, and parents and guests. We explained the importance of eating the proper food and showed films on Health. Our club and community has become health conscious, due to the health program. We eat the right foods, brush our hair and teeth, use good light to read by, have physical examinations, immunizations, vision and hearing tests

We keep medicine labeled, and first aid kits in our homes. We remove accident hazards, study about health heroes, have discussions, demonstrations and quizzes on health.

Everyone in our club had a chest X-ray. Twenty-five members and several parents took a first aid course and Red Cross swimming lessons. Our club had a posture clinic.

We tested for safe water supply, and cleaned trash from our roadside. Each year we sold Christmas Seals for the tuberculosis society.

We conduct a rat and insect control campaign in our community. We educate about safe milk through talks and demonstrations. I have been chairman of the health committee for two years and I attended county health meetings. I helped with the chest X-ray clinic in our county, and helped with a dental clinic.

We include health on the program at each club meeting. I have a demonstration and talks on health at our local 4-H meetings for the extension club and the PTA.

I was appointed chairman of a committee to make a window exhibit for a local Dairy Day. This is an example of one way that the health program has benefitted our community.

Last summer our club helped to take a diabetic test of everyone in our community. There were several minor cases of diabetis in our community and one serious case, which might never have been discovered if we hadn't taken this test.

Due to the active interest our club takes in health, we have been awarded a National 4-H Health Improvement Certificate of Merit for the last five years. Three other members of our club and I attended the State Health Camp, and one member won a trip to National 4-H Club Congress. I think my participation in the health activity helped me to win the County Grooming Contest in 1953.

I enjoy writing news stories giving talks, and demonstrations on health. When health is concerned, the job is never done. I plan to work harder on this activity next year, as it always gives me a feeling of satisfaction to know that I have been responsible for someone in my community or family having better health.

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — A Western Michigan College professor says he thinks school children should attend classes all year round.

Dr. L. Morris McClure says the nine-month term was set when children were needed for farm work and is outmoded. McClure would eliminate summer vacation, replacing it with playtime activities such as camping and outdoor education in the school curriculum.

Early Beef Project Start Is Beneficial

Barry Ellis

It was several years ago that my grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Joe K. Jenkins of this county gave me a heifer calf. From this start I was to be able to have a baby beef project by the time I was old enough. At nine I joined the Longwood Neighbors 4-H Club and bought an Angus steer. This first year I got a blue award on Achievement Day, made the Pettis County group of five, and got a red ribbon at the State Fair. At least I had learned a lot, and knew by this time I had much more to learn.

The next club year I bought another Angus steer, but he didn't do too well. I got a red ribbon on him Achievement Day and didn't take him to the State Fair. However, I did try more projects this year, realizing how much I learned from one. I added a registered Angus heifer project, Food Preparation I, and Gardening I. During the year I tried out new fields, judging at Achievement Day, entering Grooming, and giving demonstrations. I found that even though I didn't make blue ribbons all the time I was learning. Perhaps one day I would learn enough to do something more worthwhile.

During 1955 club year I took Baby Beef again, getting a good Angus steer. He took a blue ribbon Achievement Day and at the State Fair, and he was in the Pettis County group of five which took third place in top money at the State Fair. In addition, I took Cow and Calf Project, (my Angus heifer from last year) Food Preparation II, Electricity I, Gardening I, and Ropework. At Achievement Day I was awarded 17 ribbons—eight blues, eight reds and one white. In Vegetable Judging I was one of the top five, but was too young to be on the judging team for the county.

In my experiences with Baby Beef I don't feel I have gotten rich. I have had to pay premium prices for the calves, and have sold reasonably well through the American Royal or St Louis 4-H Sales. However, the knowledge and experience has been worthwhile.

4-H is not all work and no play Camp at Knob Noster has been lots of fun the last two years, and leading games as recreation leader in our club last year was fun too. Having attended 4-H Council for over a year has given me a feeling of friendship for all 4-H clubs in the county. Our club has presented one radio program and our project in Electricity presented a television show. I can't say enough for 4-H work which is only possible because of good leaders and cooperative, congenial members. I am looking forward to many more years in 4-H.

Pettis County 4-H clubs had 66 members from 24 out of the 30 4-H clubs enter exhibits at the State Fair. The 66 members had 100 entries in Food Preservation, Food Preparation, Clothing, Home Service, Home Furnishings, Woodwork, and Gardening. Of the 100 entries, 54 received blue ribbons, 37 received red ribbons and nine received white ribbons. The County Woodwork exhibit received a blue ribbon.

ASC Official Reminds Farmers To Check Grain

With warmer weather ahead, Murray C. Colbert, chairman of the Missouri State ASC Committee, reminds farmers that this is a good time to check stored grain under Commodity Credit loan. A little time and effort now to examine stored grain for possible damage and contamination from rodents, insects, heating, moisture, and birds, may prevent serious losses when the grain is delivered to CCC or when the loan is paid and the grain recovered.

Ordinarily there is little loss during cold weather. But later, when the temperature rises, conditions become more favorable for the development and activity of the organisms and forces which destroy or reduce the value of grain.

Among the specific items which the farmer should be on guard against are:

Weevils and other insects — Examine grain frequently and fumigate at the first indication of infestation.

Birds — Usually a simple matter of closing openings so that birds cannot get in.

Rats and other rodents: Close openings where rodents enter. Put on a rat-killing drive. If poison is used follow instructions provided by County Stabilization and Conservation Office or County Extension Agent.

Excessive moisture — Causes heating and destruction of grain. A mechanical drier may be necessary to reduce moisture. May need to provide better drainage at the bin or move the grain to tighter bin on higher better - drained ground.

Chairman Colbert cautions farmers that tighter pure food and drug requirements must be met before grain will be accepted for food. Rodent - contaminated grain can only be used for feed purposes. A little care and caution before the damage is done may save loss and disappointment later on.

Longwood Club Concentrates On Electricity

A project which has created and held interest in the Longwood Neighbors 4-H Club for the past year is Electricity I. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Raines were hosts to eight boys at regular project meetings, Mrs. Raines serving refreshments and Mr. Raines instructing the boys. During the year six formal project meetings were held with 100 per cent attendance and much individual instruction and assistance was given the boys in wiring lamps, preparing demonstrations, and planning television show. Barry Ellis was the Junior Project Leader and it was his responsibility to notify members of the meetings.

At Achievement Day 11 entries were made by the eight boys. These each received a ribbon—7 blue, 4 red. In addition, Bill Stephens and Barry Ellis demonstrated "How to Construct a Trouble Light" and won a red ribbon. These same boys gave a demonstration on "How to Repair an Extension Cord" at regular 4-H Club meeting one night, creating a rather peculiar situation. After the demonstration was concluded and the customary questions called for, one club member said, "I'd like to see you change jobs and parts and do it again." It resulted in the same demonstration twice, with the boys changing parts.

Five demonstrations were given before the entire club, 1 for the Extension Club, 1 for County Achievement, and Barry Ellis was invited to give one at the farm buildings and machinery meeting at the County Court House.

During the current year interest is manifested by two Electricity projects. Enrolled in Electricity II with Mr. Raines are the original 8 boys: Raymond and Robert Brown, Robert Leftwich, Bill Stephens, Buddy Anderson, Danny Smith, Bill Claycomb, and Barry Ellis. This year Danny Smith is the Junior Project Leader and Barry Ellis is the reporter. Enrolled in Electricity I are: Joyce Stephens, Nancy Major, Darrel Todd, Billy Wall, Roy Major, and J. R. Greer. Mr. Oscar Major is the leader and Nancy Major is the Junior Project Leader.

These boys and girls are learning many practical rules of safety and economy in the electrified farm program.

Much Money Given For Many Awards For 4-H Youngsters

Each year, several hundred Missouri 4-H boys and girls receive awards through state and national 4-H award programs. These 4-H awards are made available by individuals, industries and foundations who are interested in promoting the idea behind the 4-H movement. And the amount of money it takes to sponsor the awards adds up to a considerable sum.

This year the University of Missouri Board of Curators has approved all of the thirty projects in the National Awards Program. So Missouri 4-H'ers are eligible to compete for state and national honors in these projects, providing there are enough club members entered in the state contest to provide some competition.

Most of the national awards are scholarships while most of the state awards are trips to the National 4-H Club Congress held each fall in Chicago.

In addition to National Awards Program, the Missouri Extension Service has received a number of grants for furthering club work in this state, many of them from Missouri industries and citizens. Most of these awards apply to the state camps, trips to various livestock shows and some are scholarships.

Longwood 4-H Baby Beef Represented Pettis County

The Pettis County Group in Baby Beef at the Missouri State Fair in 1955 was composed of calves fed and shown by members of the Longwood Neighbors 4-H Club. The five calves, all Angus, were owned by Barry Ellis, Robert Leftwich, Rusty Wagner and Porky Wagner (two calves). Thsee five calves were selected from the Blue Ribbon group at the County 4-H Livestock Show to represent Pettis County at the State Fair. This group placed third in the County Group Class at the State Fair.

The Baby Beef project in the Longwood Club in 1955 was composed of nine boys and two girls. This group fed and exhibited a total of 13 calves at the County Livestock Show. This group won nine blue ribbons and four red ribbons at the County Show.

At the State Fair six calves were entered in the 4-H Baby Beef Class and these calves won two blue ribbons and four red ribbons.

In the current year seven boys and three girls are enrolled in the Baby Beef Project.

In this project emphasis is placed on selection, feeding, fitting, showing and marketing beef cattle. Project meetings, tours and demonstrations are an integral part of this project. Demonstrations are particularly important because the leaders feel that the members can best learn by doing. The keeping of records is stressed and is particularly important in this project.

An outgrowth of this project is the interest shown in the Cow and Calf project and the Heifer project. In 1956, there are four taking Cow and Calf and one in the Heifer project. All of these are former members of the Baby Beef project.

This project has been successful due to the intense interest of the members and their parents. Parents have been very cooperative — giving encouragement to their children and giving of their time and facilities for the advancement of this project.

Thomas J. Ream has been very helpful even though he has no children in the project. He has been extremely cooperative in supplying calves. He has excellent facilities for fitting calves and has given freely of his time and knowledge in helping the boys and girls.

The leaders of this project are Gene Wagner and Paul W. Stephens.

34,000 State 4-H Members Observe Week

More then 34,000 4-H club members in Missouri will join some two million other club members in America in observing National 4-H Club Week March 3 to 11. The purpose of National 4-H Club Week is to provide members a special occasion to evaluate past achievements and make plans for future activities, to inform the public of the value of 4-H training, to interest other young people in enrolling in local clubs and to recognize the important part played by local 4-H club leaders.

Speaking of achievements, Bob Clough, state club leader for the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service, says that Missouri club members carried more than 55,000 projects last year. They owned and cared for 3300 dairy cattle, 4800 beef cattle, 5500 sheep, and 1100 hogs. Missouri club members in food projects prepared and served 42,000 meals, and froze and preserved 37,000 quarts of food. Clothing project members made nearly 20,000 garments. This is just an example of work done by club members.

Member Tells Of Experience In 4-H Projects

Lucille Rugen, Lamine 4-H Club

In 1951, I joined the Lamine 4-H club. In these years I have carried five different projects. That year I took livestock and clothing. As my livestock project I took sheep. I went to the bank and borrowed the money to buy my sheep. I had five ewes which I purchased from the Farm Bureau. I carried this project three years.

I have carried clothing all five years, taking the second and third year twice. In these five years I've made twelve articles outside of some of my clothing for school and dresses to wear. I've won several dress review pins and was first alternate for the district contest. I won many ribbons at Achievement Day and the State Fair. I have had five exhibits at the State Fair.

I took Food Preparation three years, learning a lot about cooking, mixing drinks, etc. I won a blue ribbon at the State Fair on some nut bread.

I took gardening for three years trying to raise different vegetables and learn to eat them.

Last year was my first year in Home Grounds. I really enjoy working with the flowers, there are so many different kinds.

I have judged four times in Clothing, at Achievement Day, once in Food Preparation, and twice in gardening. I got to judge at the State Fair last year in gardening and was second highest individual in the state.

I have given demonstrations before club members and held the Secretary and Treasurer offices.

I have helped with 4-H Sundays, Valentine parties, egg and weanie roasts, local Achievement day, and helped fill out program books. The last few years we have put on a Christmas program before our Community Club of which I helped.

My mother was sewing leader and I've helped her with the younger ones. I do my sewing when not in school and some of it when in school.

I do enjoy my 4-H work and get a lot of good out of it. This year I am carrying three projects, Gardenting, Clothing IV and Home Furnishings.

Three Swine Projects Open To Youngsters

By ARTHUR C. AUSHERMAN
MU Extension State Club Agent

Missouri boys and girls have the opportunity to enroll in three swine projects. They are purebred gilt, market pig, and sow and litter.

In the purebred gilt project a member owns and develops one or more purebred gilts (not necessarily registered) from weaning to breeding age. In market pig projects, a member owns and feeds one or more (preferably three to five) pigs from weaning to finished market hogs. Members enrolled in sow and litter projects own, feed, and care for one or more purebred or high grade sows and develop the litter or litters to finished market hogs. Or when it is more practical to do so, the pigs may be sold as feeder pigs.

The sow and litter project is by far the most challenging and popular project in the state with 1755 members enrolled in it this year. In comparison 554 were enrolled in market pig projects and 408 in purebred gilt projects.

Hog producers and economists agree that 1955 hasn't been too profitable for hog producers but many boys and girls have found their swine projects profitable by watching production costs and by saving more than the average number of pigs per litter.

Reports from club members in 23 counties that have sow and litter projects as a result of the Sears Roebuck Foundation Pig Chain Program show that they saved an average of nearly eight pigs per litter. Such a record doesn't just happen.

Many Northwest Missouri sow and litter project members did all right financially. Although most of their hogs were sold prior to the St. Joseph Baby Beef and Pig Show, 366 head of market hogs were sold at this event at an average price of $19.29 per hundred weight. And speaking of achievements, Billy Correll, Brookfield, Linn County, showed the grand champion ton litter of 15 Chester Whites averaging nearly 203 pounds for a total litter weight of 3,035 pounds. They sold for $24 per hundred weight.

Other winners at this event included Carl Mason, Harris, Sullivan County, who showed a 200 pound Berkshire barrow into the grand champion position and sold him for 65 cents per pound. Carl also showed the grand champion pen of three barrows. Russell Sayre, Greencastle, Sullivan County, showed his 190 pound Duroc barrow into reserve champion position and sold him for 55 cents per pound. Russell's pen of three barrows was also the reserve champion pen.

Swine are always included in local, county, district, and state 4-H livestock shows because of the widespread interest by 4-H members in hog projects. Eighteen club members showed 52 head at the State Fair this year.

March is probably the most desirable month for spring litters and some 4-H pig shows require that pigs be farrowed in March.

Leaders and parents do much to help club members achieve the worthwhile things they receive from swine project work.

4-H Members Can Enter Ten Projects on Food Work

By Josephine Flory
MU Extension Nutritionist

Girls and boys doing 4-H foods work in 1956 will have a chance to be in one or more of ten projects. There are six projects in food preparation and four in food preservation.

Learning to cook can be such fun! With the use of good supplies, good equipment, and a reliable recipe, delicious cookies and no-cook sweets can be a breeze as any 4-H Food Preparation I member will tell you. Picnic lunches are included in this project, too.

With a little skill and practice, more difficult cooking can be tackled. Fruit, egg, and meat dishes and even planning, preparing, and serving a meal are what members in Food Preparation II will be doing in 1956. Won't they (and their families) be proud to sit down to an all 4-H breakfast!

Just as it was a thrill for the Food Preparation II member to serve breakfast to the family, so it will be for the Food Preparation IV club member to plan, prepare, and serve the family dinner as well as some "special dinners." And friends will appreciate those snacks these 4-H'ers prepare and serve.

Do you know of anything that smells better than homemade bread baking? It isn't too difficult to make. Just ask any Food Preparation V member. They will tell you that it's fun too. In addition to the bread making, they will learn about the use of equipment such as pressure sauce pans, broilers, and thermometers. They also take field trips to a food market, bakery, processing plant, or equipment section of a department store.

Are you interested in foods from other countries? Club members in Food Preparation VI will find out about them as well as having outdoor meals. Informal teas are included in this project, too.

Food preservation I project members will do such interesting things as freezing fruit, fruit juices, and sandwiches. Also, jams, conserves, marmalades, and relishes are made in this project.

Canning fruits and making pickles and preserves are some of the activities in Food Preservation II.

Club members in Food Preservation III will learn to can vegetables in a pressure canner. They will also freeze chicken and other meats.

Of course, Food Preservation IV members do more difficult preservation work.

If these activities sound interesting to you, see your local 4-H club leader or your county extension agent about joining a club.

4-H Room Improvement Shows a Big Increase

By MARY DELL McCAIN
MU Extension State Club Agent

There has been a big increase in the number of boys and girls taking part in the 4-H room improvement project. Much credit for this increase goes to Alice Alexander, University of Missouri home management specialist. Miss Alexander trained 725 home furnishing leaders and agents in 1954.

Another incentive in this room improvement projcet is the support given by the Sears Roebuck Foundation. Its representative in Kansas City, Mead Rogers, offers $75 each year to one county in each of the five agricultural extension districts in Missouri. These awards are to encourage the boys and girls to do a better job in their room improvmeent projects. Thirteen boys and 79 girls are trying for a share of these awards this year.

Sears Foundation offers four county medals to the four members in each county sending in the best story and Standard Report of work done. The best in the state receives an all-expense trip to Chicago to National Club Congress.

A member may take any room, hall, or porch that he and his family decide upon for a project. The majority of these projects have been bedrooms but every type room found in a home has been picked for improvement. Better closets and other storage spaces have been a major part of most projects. A club member may take up to five years to finish his room plan.

Accomplishments of club members in this project include everything from rearranging furniture and cleaning closets to patching plaster and laying floors. Several members have made over junk rooms and unfinished attics.

Number of club members in one family taking part in the project ranges from one to four. One family in Cooper County, the Gerkes, have four members in the project this year. They are restoring unused rooms to use. They have rebuilt walls, built storage space, papered, and painted. They are now making beds, bed spreads, and curtains.

Boys find this to be an interesting project. For example, Robert Hupfeld of St. Louis County fell heir to his sister's room after she married. He decided to make some changes. He started by painting the walls green, one wall a dark green and the other a lighter green to match the tile on the floor. Next, he refinished the woodwork. He made a bed, desk, bedside tables, lamps, and reupholstered an old chair. His table lamps were made from bowling pins with salad bowls as a base.

These are only a few of the outstanding room improvement projects completed by club members. More information about the room improvement project can be obtained from your county extension office.

4-H Work Is a Part Of Threefold Program

4-H club work is a part of the three fold program of the agricultural extension cooperating with rural people.

It is a nation-wide educational program, second only to the public schools. Its purpose is to teach rural boys and girls the latest and best practices in agriculture and home economics, including the fine and significant things in rural life.

Equally valuable with skills and practical knowledge acquired is the zest for living that it stimulates. 4-H members find their lives enriched by enduring friendships with other young people. Forestry and good crops work awakens a sense of kinship with the earth and a deeper appreciation of the miracles wrought in the soil. In the homemaking projects, boys and girls learn to take home responsibilities and to help their younger brothers and sisters.

Through the livestock projects the love of good livestock is fostered and character is enriched, thus making a contribution far beyond the results indicated by records and figures.

The interests of 4-H members are not confined to the family center and individual farm. Increasing attention is being given to such activities as church and community beautification, participation in church services, and a helping hand to those less fortunate households. This is the "greater loyalty" through which the 4-H member becomes aware of a brotherhood embracing not only his home and his club, but the world in which he is a part.

---

More than 40 countries are taking part in the 1957 - 58 geophysical year.

4-H Projects Are Divided Into 2 Fields

Most of the projects offered in 4-H work are of two general fields — Agricultural or Home Economies. In these two fields there are about 80 projects that members may choose from. These projects are designed so that members may follow them successively, enter them where they are qualified, or select them for their own good.

Beginning projects in agriculture may be divided into two groups: those requiring an outlay of money and those requiring very little money. Projects such as baby beef, crops, purebred gilt require a cash start while projects like woodwork, electricity, vegetables do not need much money. Other projects can be started in a small way and expanded into large projects.

Home economics projects require little cash outlay and are designed to give adequate training in food preparation and preservation, clothing, home furnishings and similar projects. These projects cover methods, practicability, and techniques.

Project requirements are a measure of the work to be done. They apply to the quantity of work only, and they are minimum requirements. An ambitious 4-H'er will not be satisfied with doing the least possible that will be acceptable. Most good project members far exceed the minimum requirements.

No effort is made to inject quality of work into the requirements. The project leader will use his or her judgment as to whether the quality of work done is worthy of the individual.

10htk farm 4-H Membership Gives Extra Training Through Its Projects

The 4-H has been a worthwhile experience in my life. It has taught me many worthwhile things that I would not have known otherwise. My first year was in 1950. The projects that I have taken are Food Preparation I, II III, Clothing I and II, Home Furnishings I and and junior leadership.

In food preparation, I have learned how to plan menus, plan and cook different meats, vegetables, soups and pastries. I have also prepared and served a great number of meals.

In Clothing I have made a number of articles such as skirts, blouses, dresses, and slips and just about anything that I wanted. I have learned a great deal in Clothing and plan to learn more in the years to come .

I have enjoyed very much being in Home Furnishings. I have made a great number of articles such as pillow cases, footstools, pictures, luncheon cloths and waste baskets.

Besides doing my projects I have been on different committees such as Health and Programs. I have served at 4-H picnics, Mother's and Father's Day Banquet and Council picnics. I have helped with window exhibits, PTA programs, State 4-H float and many others besides these.

I have enjoyed my 4-H work very much and hope that I will be in the club many more years.

Improvement Projects Can Be Repeated

The 4-H farm and home improvement project may be chosen for several years in succession. There is no established sequence in the units. The farmstead rearrangement plan which should come first in every instance. The local situation will determine the logical sequence of units that follow.

The first step in the overall farm and home improvement project should be planning of the farmstead for efficiency and attractiveness. The plan should be drawn giving the present setup. Then an improved plan should be made to include improvements to be made during the next five or six years. Then as each improvement is made it will fit into an overall plan.

Make all drawings to a scale of one inch equals 50 feet. Cross section paper to this scale works very good. The proposed farmstead layout should include:

1. Location of drives from the county road to the farmstead area.
2. Parking area near the front door to induce use of this door by guests.
3. Location of all buildings planned during next five or six years.
4. Location and arrangement of lots, loading chute, and small pastures adjacent to farmstead.
5. Location of cattle guard and gates.
6. Location of lane to the fields.
7. Landscaping.

A peg board with model buildings is a very good way of demonstrating farmstead rearrangement. The member can demonstrate his present arrangement and then rearrange it into the proposed layout. It is important that the time element be watched carefully so that such a demonstration does not take too long.

Part one of this project for the first year would consist in making the above layout plan and then complete one of the items listed below. The second and succeeding years, the project would include the completion of two or more of the improvements listed below. Other farmstead improvements similar to these could, of course be included in such a project. Some of the improvements are as follows:

Construct a cattle guard.

Build sidewalk, drive and parking area called for in the plan.

Paint the house, barn or any other building.

Paint metal roof with metallic zinc paint. Renail and ground.

Concrete a barn lot area.

Construct a watering tank.

There were 13 blue ribbon clubs in Pettis County in 1955.

Facts Parents Should Know About 4-H Clubs

First — Learn what 4-H is about, the requirements, rewards and goals.

Second — Help the club member plan his time to do club work, go to meetings, and other club activities.

Third — Motivate members to take part in new experiences as camping, swimming, judging, demonstrations, recreation, etc.

Fourth — Help finance and advise in securing projects.

Fifth — Give personal supervision and assistance with projects.

Sixth — Encourage members to keep record books up-to date.

Seventh — Attend special meetings and tours with members.

Eighth — Invite the club to meet in your home, or have project meetings there.

Ninth — Assist the leader in every way possible such as furnish transportation to 4-H events, assist with projects, serving on committees, help plan the local 4-H program, discuss 4-H and encourage boys and girls of 4-H age to become members.

Tenth — Show appreciation in local leaders. Remember, your local leader is voluntarily giving his time and talent so that your children will have the same opportunity as boys and girls in other communities.

Boys and girls who have done outstanding 4-H work are most often children who have had encouragement and cooperation at home. Parents should feel that they are an integral part of the local club. Their responsibility lies more specifically with the individual member, however, rather than with the club as a whole. Club work is not the sole responsibility of the local leader, county extension agent, members or parents. It is the responsibility of all of us working together.

Remember, "The most important crop grown on our farms is our young people. Let's give them a fair share of our time."

Striped College 4-H Club Points to Accomplishments

The Striped College 4-H Club is proud of its accomplishments and all the members feel it is a privilege to belong to such a worthy organization.

Of course, it is all made possible by the very splendid leadership of their community leader, who is Mrs. Lester Patrick. She has given of her time freely for the past nine years. Assisting Mrs. Patrick is Mrs. Ted Dabner who is also giving of her time freely.

The 4-H program offers boys and girls from ages of nine to 21 every opportunity to learn through actual experiences and they will treasure the fellowship and good times with each other for years to come.

When Mrs. Patrick first started being community leader there was only 20 members in the club and interest wasn't too strong. She found that to keep the club going she had to be not only community leader but just about a leader in every project. Now it is a different story as each family has gotten interested in 4-H work and the opportunities it gives to their children, such as county, State and National awards, trips, scholarships and good home-making ideas and ideals. This in turn makes better men and women to serve their community. Last year this club had 45 members and nine project leaders. These leaders have volunteered their time and effort to help these young people, also good parent cooperation has made this club very successful.

The Food Preparation I — II— III — IV had nine members with Mrs. Fred Staley Jr. as leader.

Clothing I — II had 15 members and Mrs. Leo Leiter is the leader.

Clothing III — IV had three members with Mrs. Ellis Garrett as their leader.

Home Furnishing I — II had 7 members with Mrs. Patrick and Mrs. Dabner as their leader.

Woodwork had 19 members and Mrs. Dabner as their leaders.

Gardening had two members this year and Mrs. Hubert Finley is the leader.

Live Stock and All Field Crops projects were led by Mr Hubert Finley.

Tractor Maintenance had three members with Mr. Fred Staley as leader.

Eleven junior leaders assist the community leader and assistant community leader in all projects and all activities.

Some of the other projects that can be taken are Native Craft, Food Preservation, Rope Work, Entomology, Home Grounds, Forestry and many others.

For the past six years they have taken Health, First Aid, Grooming, Wild-Life Conservation for our activity, and each year they have sent a delegate to either Hearth Camp or Wild-life Camp and some years we had delegates to both camps. This last year Caroline Staley was our delegate to Health Camp, this camp is held on the beautiful Lake of the Ozarks. She also attended junior leaders camp and State 4-H Week at Columbia, Mo. Caroline is now trying to promote a Water Safety Campaign in this community and is giving talks before groups such as PTA and other organizations on this subject.

Our regular meeting night is the first Tuesday night of the month and ladies of the Striped College Community Club and the parents are always on hand with refreshments.

The method of teaching in 4-H is by demonstration and judging, so at each regular meeting three to five members give demonstrations. They also have plenty of opportunity to demonstrate and judge at project meetings which are separate meetings. By the end of the year the boys and girls are getting pretty excited about exhibiting their work at the County Achievement Day, State Fair and other events. They always come home with their share of Blue, Red and a few White Ribbons. This last year two girls from this club, Ethel Litz and Caroline Staley, entered the Sears Home Improvement Contest and completely redecorated a room.

Two of the things the 4-H Club looks forward to each year is the Chain Store Association Banquet for leaders and the Chamber of Commerce Banquet for 4-H members and their parents.

Our club has a very good record in community service.

Some of the important things we have done in this field are: participate in all council programs, members of the club are game leaders for council served on committees, helped with council picnics and council dances, helped on council election committee, always remembers Melita Day Nursery at holidays with eggs, candy, toys for Easter, dolls and toys for Christmas, folding Christmas seals for Red Cross, give money to the Mercy Hospital, Care, Heart, Polio, Cerebral Palsy, Blind of Missouri, sent clothes to Korea for Orphans, March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy, donated tea towels to school lunch room, have cleaned the shool house and the yard, gifts to leaders, shut-ins, and sick people, mowed yards, painted fences, painted mail boxes, helped in the hay field when help was hard to get, helped take care of stock while family was away from home and many, many others.

We have had window displays for Wild-life Conservation, Health, Dairy Day and National 4-H Week. One of the things we have enjoyed doing this last year was having the honor of making the State 4-H Float for the opening of the Missouri State Fair Parade. It was made using the theme "Gears of Progress" and emphasizing "Community Improvement". The color scheme was white and green using over 20,000 white napkins to make the float. The frame work of this float was mounted on a trailer, Donald Shirley, one of the boys enrolled in Woodwork Project IV, made at his project meetings. The boys and girls worked every day and night for a week to make the float.

But 4-H is not all work and no play for we have our share of fun too. Some of the good times we have experienced this year are: Christmas Party with exchange of gifts, Two shadow Plays, Halloween Party, Thanksgiving Dinner honoring the parents, Valentine Party, Two Hay Rides, Two Weiner Roasts, Swimming Party, Watermelon Feast, Skating Party, Family Night, Rural Life 4-H Sunday, Square Dance money making project, Woodwork Open House for the public, Radio Program. Local Achievement Day, Five Programs for PTA and other organizations, Tour through Missouri Pacific Shops, Wedding Shower, Two Family Album Plays, a Tea for mothers and Motion Pictures and Slides.

We also took part in the Pettis County Dramatic Festival. But only won a Red ribbon for our efforts but will try harder this time.

This article will give you an idea of what a 4-H member does with his time during the year. A speaker once stated that, "You can always tell a man that has had 4-H training as a boy".

Farm Tractor Meetings Aid Members

Christine Silsby, Georgetown 4-H

I chose Tractor Care Project because I am very interested in machinery, its works and its cares. I have lived on a farm all my life, and, not having an older brother, have been the one who helped with the field work. I chose this project also because I like to do things with my hands.

This is my second year in Tractor Maintenance work but since there was considerable charge in material I took the "A" project. When I signed up for this project again I expected my Dad to have a new tractor, but when I learned he would not, I accepted this as a challenge and have learned very much.

Our tractor care project is very small as it is just starting in my club. I was the only member. I certainly have learned very much and have had a wonderful time. My tractor Care Project leader, Earl Curry, attended the Tractor Care School sponsored by the Standard Oil Co. again this year. I am sure it is due to this training that my leader was able to help me so much later on. I also attended an evening session when films were shown.

We held 10 project meetings. Two of these meetings were held at our local Allis-Chalmers Implement Co. Here we cleaned and adjusted a tractor carburetor. One meeting was held at our local International - Harvester Implement house where a representative of this Adams Implement Co. demonstrated how to properly adjust a tractor carburetor. Three meetings were at my home. Four were held in Mr. Thompson's Store Room in Sedalia. At this time a demonstration was arranged and practiced to be given at County Achievement Day. Assistant County Agent, Jim Perry, helped me at one of these meetings.

I gave a demonstration at our club meeting on "Oil With Additives". I had to do a lot of preparation and reading for this.

I also wrote an essay on Farm Safety and entered it inacontest

I also wrote an essay on Farm Safety and entered it in a contest. sponsored by radio station KMMO, Mr. Dudley Carson Farm Director. I won first prize of $20.00. I sure was happy about this.

I gave a Tractor Care Demonstration at County Achievement Day on "How to Adjust a Tractor Carburetor". I used an H Farmall tractor. I received a blue ribbon and got to represent my county at district meet. At district I won a blue ribbon and went to state meet. At state I won a red ribbon.

I think I have learned very much in this project and I am sure I have helped my family to save money on repair and on laborers to run the tractor.

"WRAPPED" FOR FRESHNESS—Double yolks are not too unusual in chicken eggs, but double shells are. This egg, laid by a hen at Hastings, Ontario, has such double protection. The ruler shows it was two inches wide. Naturally, with all the protective covering, the smaller egg was grade A.

Fifty-eight different projects were carried by 4-H members in 1955.

Fifty-two 4-H boys and girls from 15 clubs participated in the 1955 4-H County Judging Contests.

Takes Three Different Projects During Her 4-H Club Membership

Jeanette Rugen, Lamine 4-H Club

I joined the Lamine 4-H Club in 1952. In these years I've taken three different projects, Clothing, Woodwork, and Food Preparation. Clothing and Food Preparation I took three years.

In Clothing I have made eleven articles and some other things for myself. I won two blue ribbons and two red ribbons at the State Fair in Clothing.

In Food Preparation I learned to make biscuits, muffins and cookies and how to mix drinks, also many other things.

Last year I took woodwork. Having my foot in a cast and walking on crutches most of the summer all I did was make a bird house.

I have judged in Clothing at Achievement Day and gave a demonstration at our club meeting. I enjoy 4-H very much and hope to continue.

Projects Are Profitable As Well As Pleasure to Member

By Phyllis Schluesing

I have been a 4-H member for 11 years. I have completed 31 projects. These were Clothing, Home Furnishings, Home Serve, Geese, Food Preparation, Home Grounds, Food Preservation, and Junior Leadership. Clothing is my favorite and I took it all 11 years. I also enormously enjoyed and profited from my other projects. The Home Furnishings and Home Service went well with my Clothing and cooking and canning projects will always be helpful to me. I found, however, that Geese and Home Grounds do not go too well together. On one occasion the geese ate all the flowers.

In my 11 years I have won 135 blue ribbons, 32 red, and 6 white ribbons at County Achivement Days, District Round-Ups, District Fairs, and State Fairs. These events give us an important opportunity to show other people what we are doing and to give us a chance to compare our progress with the progress of other 4-H'ers in the county and state. For the last few summers I have helped the younger members of our club with their Clothing projects.

For the last few years I have worked in the 4-H Building at the State Fair helping arrange exhibits, write vouchers, etc. I think few of us realize how much work has to be done in setting up an exhibit like this.

I am a member of the Ringen-Burshy Club and since I entered college, I have also been a member of the Mizzou 4-H Club at the University of Missouri. This 4-H Club is made up of college students who have had some 4-H experience. Last year I was one of the members who served as courtesy committee at State Club week. This was something I really enjoyed even though I was run ragged. This year I am on the Program and Nominating committees and am chairman of the Foods committee. If some of you think refreshments for meetings aren't too much of a problem, try it with no parents around. It makes you really appreciate the help they gave.

I have been Pettis County winner in under 14 Dress Revue 2 years, Clothing Achivement 4 years, and Home Grounds, Girl's Record, Girl's Achievement, Demonstration, Grooming, and Dress Revue (over 14) one year each. And then, in 1954 I was state and National Clothing Achivement Winner and won a trip to National 4-H Club Congress and a scholarship.

4-H activities cover a vast amount of things. We start in our local clubs where we play, sing, and work together. We learn to work with other members and with the adults who give so much of their time and effort to be our leaders. At county and local events, we appreciate the marvelous help of our county agents and home agent. We go to State Club Week and the Royal where we get to meet 4-H'ers from all over the state and other states too, and we get to know and appreciate our State 4-H Agents. At Achievement Day, Livestock Show, and State Fair, we can exhibit our yearly accomplishments and compare our work and progress with those of others in the county or state. We may be able to go to 4-H Camp, or to one of the many other Camps. Some have the opportunity, as I did last year, to take that almost unbelieveable wonderful trip to Chicago as a delegate to National 4-H Congress where 1,400 4-H members and sponsors from all 48 states and many other countries meet together for fun, inspiration, and a sharing of ideas. Some take the equally wonderful trip to Washington, D. C. for National 4-H Camp. International Farm Youth Exchange is another program connected with our 4-H. Recently, I heard four of our returning IFYE delegates tell about their experiences and show slides of the countries each had visited. They had been to India, Israel, Austria, and England. Extension sponsorship had made it possible to spend about four months in these countries actually living with farm families of the countries learning of their way of life and sharing ours.

Younger Legislators

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslavia believes it has the youngest lawmakers in the world. More than half of the 554 members of the Yugoslav Parliament are between 30 and 40. Only 13 are more than 60. Twenty-eight are under 30. Dusan Petrovic, baby of the Parliament, is only 26.

The largest single group—56—are industrial workers. Only one-fifth have university degrees. More than half never completed high school.

All but 26 are members of the Yugoslav Communist Party. Those 26 belong to the Yugoslav Socialistic Alliance of Working People, which follows the Yugoslav Communist Party line.

AGED LONGER

Than any other beer Thats why G/B is so refreshing!

AGE—Yes sir, that's what makes a good beer taste better. The finest beer is aged beer. That's why G/B is aged longer to bring out that quality lager flavor. Of course, we use the finest premium-priced hops, sun-ripened grains and crystal-pure water — but it is ageing . . . far longer ageing that makes the real taste difference. You'll notice it in G/B right away . . . a smooth, mellow taste that's unusually refreshing. Try G/B and see!

Example Set By Parents Was Big Help

Joyce Stephens, Longwood 4-H

I have always been interested in 4-H work since my mother and father have been 4-H leaders before and after I started. I began in 4-H in 1950 in New Madred county with only one project, Home Service. I also went to 4-H Camp at Lake Clover Point.

My second year my projects were Gardening I, Food Preparation I, and Fat Barrow. I modeled in my first style show sponsored by the Simplicity Pattern Co. for 4-H members. That year my father, mother and I were on "A Place in the Sun" radio program at St. Louis with Robert Clough. My father and mother were given an award for outstanding 4-H club leadership.

In 1952 we moved to Pettis County and my brother and I joined the Longwood Neighbors 4-H Club. My projects were Food Preparation II, Market Pig, Clothing I, and Gardening I. I was on a radio program with the Longwood Club presenting a skit to Radioland.

In my fourth year of club work I took as my projects Clothing II, Gardening I, Foods III, and Baby Beef. It was during my fourth year I first began judging foods. It was the first time I had judged in the county contest and I won a red ribbon.

Last year, my fifth year, my projects were Baby Beef, Foods III, Clothing III, Gardening I, and Home Furnishings I. I went to 4-H Camp and to the American Royal. This was when my practicing on food judging paid off. I got a blue ribbon in the county judging contest and an opportunity to go to the district and state contest. In the district contest I judged with Shirley Tegtmeyer and Joan Townsend and the Pettis County Team placed first. Then we went to State Achivement Day in Columbia and judged in foods. Joan Townsend, Shirley Tegtmeyer, and I were awarded blue ribbons and won third place in the state contest.

This year I enrolled in six projects: Foods V, Clothing III, Gardening, Heifer, Electricity I, and Jr. Leader.

I have held the offices of Song Leader, Game Leader, Vice President, and I now hold the office of President of the Longwood Club. I now have 24 blue ribbons, 17 red ribbons, 7 white ribbons, and one Dress Revue pin.

Besides all the educational opportunities in 4-H I have enjoyed knowing other young people over the county and state in 4-H Camp and other activities as "Fun Night" and Achievement Day. I appreciate all the time and work my leaders have given in helping me in my projects and know it is because they have worked so hard that I have found 4-H so interesting and worthwhile.

CHICKEN OF TOMORROW CONTEST—Dick Wissman, left, Flat Creek 4-H Club, was third high individual winner in the Junior Chicken of Tomorrow Contest last year at the State Fair. Shown with him is Mrs. Anna Bagby, local hatchery owner. The contest will be conducted again this year and complete details may be obtained at the Pettis County extension office, 118½ West Third.

Approximately 200 people attended the County 4-H Livestock Show last August.

Fourty-four Pettis County 4-H'ers attended the annual camp at Camp Bob White.

Seventy-four 4-H girls participated in Dress Revue this last year.

Longwood Neighbors 4-H Club Begins New Woodworking Project

One of the new projects this year in the Longwood Neighbors 4-H Club is Woodwork I under the leadership of Dan Smith. Enrolled are six boys: Buddy Anderson, Barry Ellis, Roy Major, Bill Stephens, Darrel Todd and Danny Smith.

Last August the 4-H club voted to be responsible for a picnic table for a picnic area at Cartwright School. The Longwood Extension Club had already planned to sponsor the building of an outdoor oven on that site. Mr. Smith took the boys, along with some other interested club members, to Hughesville one day during Christmas vacation and built the table. It is an unusually large, well-built table. At present it is in the barn at the home of Barry Ellis where Mr. Smith and the boys will meet and paint it before putting it outside for use.

The boys are planning several other things to be made in their projects this year, even perhaps some more tables similar to the one they have made.
